OFFICERS READY TO BATTLE GANG IN GEORGIA SWAMP

Following a Series of Train Robberies Near Waycross, Alleged Gang Is Run to Earth.

GANG OF WHITE MEN RIDDLE ENGINE CAB

A Pitched Battle May Take Place Today Between Officers and Outlaws—Two Arrests Already Made.

Waycross, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—Following several freight train robberies in the neighborhood of Kirkland, northwest of Waycross, conditions today came to a crisis when a gang of five white men, whose identity is not known, fired on the train crew of eastbound Atlantic Coast Line freight No. 215, Albany to Waycross, bullets riddling the cab and perforating hats worn by Conductor Leroy McWhite, of Albany, and Flagman J. W. Jennings, of Waycross.

Elder Carver Arrested.

On the charge of receiving goods stolen from an Atlantic Coast Line freight train, Jesse Carver, father of the young men arrested earlier today on suspicion in connection with the shooting up of the freight today, was tonight lodged in jail in Douglas.

Randall Solomen, an escaped convict from Berrien county, where he was serving a fifteen-year sentence for arson; his brother, Andrew Solomen, and a man named John Register, supposed to be an army deserter, are located in a swamp a mile from "Kirkland, and will be the object of a search tomorrow.

Men Heavily Armed.

The men not arrested are heavily armed, and a pitched battle is anticipated when officers attempt to arrest them. The swamp is 5 miles across, and it is almost impossible to penetrate to the headquarters of the gang.

Robberies recently committed at Pearson are charged to the men now in hiding. The cause of the shooting has been assigned to the fact that the gang was caught in the act of entering one of the box cars. At the spot in the cab fourteen bullets penetrated the car within a radius of 3 feet.

Hiding Place Located.

Prompt work by special agents of the Coast Line and officers of Coffee county located the hiding place of the gang in a swamp known as "Roundabout." One arrest was made this afternoon, that of Edgar Carver, 22-year-old son of Jesse Carver, who was arrested at Douglas. He has had no actual connection with the robberies it appears, but has been with those who have made the raids on the trains and is being held as a suspect. He is expected to aid the officers in their probe of the robberies and today's shooting.

Chief G. O. Gobels, of Savannah, with bloodhounds secured in Wayne county, went to the scene of the shooting on a special and were joined by W. E. Caley, of Waycross, and Sheriff Gillis and deputies of Coffee county.

Officers today found a quantity of booty taken within the past few weeks from through freights. A large bunch of keys, containing all kinds of lock-openers, was among the finds of the day.

It is believed the train robbers are those guilty of frequent store robberies that have been reported from this section in recent weeks. It is reported that a regular hiding place has been fixed in a swamp a few miles from Kirkland and that in this house is most of the undisposed-of loot.

Coast Line agents will renew the search tomorrow, aided by deputies from Douglas and Waycross, and before another night it is expected to have all guilty parties under arrest.

Just before young Carver was taken to Douglas tonight it was reported that he had placed all the information he had at the disposal of the officers and that it is merely a question of time before arrests that will prove sensational throughout this section will be made.

The Longest Day of the Whole Year

This is it—June 21.

More sunlight today than in any other twenty-four hours of the 365 days.

You can read a newspaper earlier this morning and later this evening without any artificial light than at any other time.

Perhaps the news is not extra heavy. Warm weather seems to lessen the activities of the news world; things "don't happen."

But in the advertising columns there is "something doing" every day.

You can count dozens of hot weather opportunities that are bound to interest you.

Don't waste your activities wandering from shop to shop hunting for what you want. Take counsel with the advertisements first, and then go to the place that is handiest and most reliable.

Platonic Kiss Is O. K. Even at Five Points Asserts Police Chief

Chief James Beavers Gives Analysis of "Divine Mode of Greeting," and Tells When It Is Alright.

"A light imprint of the lips, gentle, brief and dispassionate. A heavenly collision of the lips or the lips with the cheek."—Chief James L. Beavers' analysis of a kiss.

Atlanta lovers need have no fears that the kiss will soon be taboo in Atlanta. Kissing is all right, so said Chief Beavers yesterday, thus setting at rest all the reports that he was an enemy to osculation.

Since the recent arrest of an amorous couple in a cab at the Terminal station, who osculated too openly and too drunkenly, the kissing public of Atlanta has been rather dubious of the attitude of Chief Beavers.

Not the Slightest Reason.

But there was not the slightest reason. The chief is a champion of kissing—in fact, he believes in it strongly, declaring to a Constitution reporter Friday that so long as a kiss was a kiss—the genuine article passed upon by the board of censorship—it was perfectly proper anywhere, even in a taxicab.

A kiss, he said, is a divine mode of greeting. It is the sweetest of all salutations, and if folks shake hands on the street, why shouldn't they be allowed to kiss as well?

"A platonic kiss," the chief declared, "would be permitted in the very heart of Five Points. A couple could greet each other kissingly in a Whitehall street show window, just so long as they didn't overdo things.

Nothing Wrong With Kiss.

"There's nothing wrong with a kiss, the right kind of kiss, and police interference need never be feared. No policeman is going to make arrests for kissing alone. The most moral member of the 'vice squad' would not even disapprove of an osculatory greeting."

After which discussion the chief gave this definition of a kiss:

"A light imprint of the lips, gentle, brief and dispassionate. A heavenly collision of the lips or the lips with cheek. He declared that the man and woman arrested in the cab at the Terminal station were not indulging in kissing alone. Both were intoxicated, he said, and intoxicated persons should not kiss. Their conduct was unprintable, he said, and both should have been fined. The woman, said the chief, was so drunk that she had to be sent to Grady hospital

TROLLEY CAR STRIKE VOTED IN BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., June 20.—The newly organized local street railway union voted tonight for a general street railway strike in Birmingham effective at midnight tonight. The number of men who will respond will probably not be known until time for the cars to start tomorrow morning. About 500 men, motormen and conductors, are employed on the Birmingham lines.

CARNEGIE'S GIFT IS TURNED DOWN BY THE BISHOPS

Action of Board of Trust in Accepting Millionaire's Offer to Vanderbilt University Declared Void.

STRING TIED TO OFFER CAUSE OF OBJECTIONS

"Unwilling That University Should Be Dismembered and Church of God Dishonored," Reads Message.

Nashville, Tenn., June 20.—At a called meeting of the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, attended by nine members of the college of bishops, a veto message was drawn up setting forth the following objections to the action of the board of trust in accepting the recent gift from Andrew Carnegie to the Vanderbilt Medical college:

That the action of the board of trust of Vanderbilt in accepting the gift is a breach of trust vested in it under and by virtue of the resolutions of the Memphis convention, which constitutes the foundation of Vanderbilt university; that said action is beyond the powers of the board, and that it constitutes a diversion of a large portion of the funds and property of the university from the trusts upon which said property is held; is contrary to the terms of other gifts to the university and is illegal, null and void.

The resolutions vetoing the $1,000,000 gift by Carnegie were adopted unanimously by the college of bishops.

A copy of this action will be duly certified and forwarded to the secretary of the board of trust of the university.

Those attending the meeting were:

Bishops Collins Denny, E. R. Hendrix, W. R. Lambuth, E. D. Mouzon, J. C. Kilgore, J. H. McCoy, E. E. Hoss, H. C. Morrison and W. A. Candler.

In addition to a veto message the bishops addressed a general message to the church, stating their reasons for opposing the gift. They say in part:

"If this gift had been offered without embarrassing conditions, as all other gifts to the institution have been made, we should have offered no objection to its acceptance, but the conditions attached to this gift and the letter accompanying it which must be taken as opposite of the conditions are such as lead us to believe it cannot be accepted without a breach of trust and without dishonor to the church, if conditions are fulfilled in good faith to the donor.

"We are as unwilling that Mr. Carnegie should be deceived as that the university should be dismembered and the church of God dishonored."

ON THE LID—NO VACATION!

Dream of moonlight nights near the sea, promise of many triumphs with rod and reel, and dreamless nights cannot budge Atlanta's chief executive from his office at city hall.

Mayor Woodward has declared his vacation "off." Instead of going to Atlantic City he is going to stay at home. His summer will contain none of the joys of vacation time. The nearest the mayor will get to the ocean will be the marine painting which he will have hung in his office, and he will have to go to Piedmont Lake if he hopes to have a dip.

"Excuse me!" exclaimed the mayor when he was asked when he would take his vacation. "Nothing doing for your Uncle Jimmy this summer. Me for Atlanta the rest of my term."

The mayor says he will remain on the job no matter what happens. He but still he says he does not care to take a chance.

That $260,000 crematory contract is still up in the air. With the mayor out of the city council could sail one over on him. But he says he is going to stick, and that is all there is to it. Uncle Jimmy is going to be the busiest little mayor in all these great United States this summer, and if anything is put over on him he will be on the job to see the fireworks.

"I'm the guy that took the time out of pastime," Mayor Woodward says.

ATLANTA CALLED IDEAL CONVENTION CITY BY VISITORS

Delegates to Presbyterian Assemblies and to Gas Show Sing Praises of Gate City of South.

GAS COMPANIES PROFIT BY EXHIBIT IN ATLANTA

Dr. Lyons and Dr. Roberts Tell Head of Convention Bureau of Great Success of Meeting Here.

Opinions of Atlanta as a convention city that come as echoes of the recent joint convention here of the three Presbyterian assemblies, backed by the expressions after the gas show held last fall by the National Commercial Gas association, will prove of interest to people all over America and of inestimable value to Atlanta.

That Atlanta is an admirable city for conventions and is surpassed not even by New York and Chicago is the sum and substance of statements made by those who have enjoyed the hospitality of Atlanta citizens and business men during national conventions.

While the city has done in entertaining some of the largest conventions ever held in America and what it will do in caring for the 1914 meeting of the Shriners and the convention of the American Bankers' association, should the latter come here, is well known to Atlanta folk as well as to those who have come here as convention delegates and visitors.

Moderator Praises Atlanta.

For others who have not kept actively in touch with conventions held here the situation is told in several letters written by those who have been here to conventions.

Among them Dr. J. S. Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Louisville, Ky., and moderator of the Southern Presbyterian assembly, and Dr. William H. Roberts, of Philadelphia, Pa., stated clerk of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, write to Fred Houser, secretary of the convention bureau of the Atlanta chamber of commerce, in which praise of the way in which Atlanta handled their conventions.

Dr. Lyons' letter in part is as follows:

"Atlanta has exceeded all of my extravagant conceptions of it as an enterprising and hospitable city. The experience of the recent Pan-Presbyterian gathering in Atlanta justifies me in saying that the provision for the comfort and efficient discharge of the work of the assemblies could not have been improved upon.

"The hotels, public buildings and press are metropolitan and of the first order. The impressions of the great gathering in Atlanta will be framed in enduring and beautiful memories of the delightful hospitality of the city, which might be well expressed as an open door to an open heart.

"Very sincerely yours,

"J. S. LYONS."

Dr. Roberts Praises.

The letter from Dr. Roberts is also loud in praise of Atlanta's facilities as a convention place. It follows in part:

"Atlanta's hospitality was of the most generous kind. The accommodations were excellent and the weather delightful. Indeed, all the arrangements were of a first-class character, and greatly to the credit of all who took part in the welcome and entertainment of this general assembly.

NEWSOME IS HELD FOR WIFE'S DEATH

Evidence Brought Out by the Coroner's Investigation Shows That Couple Had Frequently Quarreled.

Valdosta, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—Norris Newsome, a well-known farmer of this county, whose wife was found dead under mysterious circumstances last Saturday afternoon, was today arrested on a charge of having murdered her.

Mrs. Newsome was reported to have committed suicide, and this report was generally accepted. Information of the tragedy which reached this city was to the effect that she had gone into her room and fired a pistol ball through her head. When her children and husband, attracted by the shot, reached the scene, she was breathing her last.

Circumstances connected with her death caused Coroner Solomon to empanel a jury and hold an inquest, which was adjourned until today, when the members of the jury met in this city to conclude their investigations and render a verdict. Relatives of the dead woman came to the city also, and before the verdict of the coroner's jury had been rendered, J. A. Swilley, brother of the dead woman, swore out a arrant charging the husband with her murder.

Evidence before the coroner showed that the couple had lived very unhappily, and that Newsome had threatened to turn his wife out of his home. They had quarreled on the day of her death. A circumstance which excited the suspicion of Mrs. Newsome's relatives was the fact that no powder burns were found on her face or person, and that her hands were crossed under her back. The pistol, with an empty chamber, was found by her side.

There is a probability that the body will be exhumed for an examination by physicians. The husband is now in jail.

Fire Destroys Town.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 20.—Due to an oil fire in the residence of Joseph Rhea, twelve buildings at Butler, Tenn., were burned today with a loss of $25,000 and small insurance. The business part of the little lumber town was practically wiped out.

Georgian Describes His Fall From Sky And Ensign's Death

Lieut. J. A. Towers, of Rome, Tells of How He Clung to Plane and Saw Companion Drop Into Bay.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 20.—(Special.)—The tragic story of how Ensign William D. Billingsley was hurled from a disabled biplane, 1,600 feet in the air, today, and fell straight as a plummet, to his death in the depths of Chesapeake bay, was related tonight by Lieut. John A. Towers, of Rome, Ga., chief of the navy aviators, who clung to the hurling wreck that followed his comrade's course from sky to water and escaped death, almost miraculously.

Lieutenant Towers is a native of Rome, Ga., where his mother, Mrs. Mary N. Towers, resides at 10 Seventh avenue. He was born on January 20, 1888, and was appointed to the Naval academy on August 30, 1902. On August 22, 1911, he was ordered to Annapolis to join the aviation squad. He attended the international aviation meet at Chicago from September 4 to 9, 1912, as a delegate from the navy department. On December 17, 1912, he was designated as aviator in charge, and directed the winter work of the aeronautical squad at Guantanamo. Only a few weeks ago he made a long flight from the Washington navy yard in a Curtis flying boat down the Potomac river, across Point Lookout and up the Chesapeake bay to Annapolis.

Wind Tips Aeroplane.

Ensign Billingsley, in a biplane that had been converted into a hydro-aeroplane by the addition of pontoons, with Lieutenant Towers as a passenger, left the aviation grounds at the Naval academy here this morning to fly to Claiborne, some eighteen miles across the bay.

About ten miles down the bay a gust of wind struck them. Ensign Billingsley was thrown forward across the steering gear, which was disabled. The front planes of the craft fell, and it dropped like a dead bird toward the water. As it fell the pilot was catapulted out, and turning over and over, his body outspeeded the disabled machine toward the water. Deep in the bay the body sank, and late tonight all the available boats in the neighborhood were out seeking it.

When the aeroplane started on the dive for the bay, Lieutenant Towers clung desperately to one of the uprights, between the planes. Although at times his body swung clear of the rapidly falling airship, he maintained his hold with hand and arm almost wrenched apart. After falling about 900 feet the biplane turned a complete somersault and for a moment the force of the fall was broken. Striking the bay, it carried Lieutenant Towers beneath the water, but he rose to the surface almost immediately.

The aviator suffering excruciating pain, feared that he would lose consciousness before he could be rescued,

WILSON IS BACKED ON CURRENCY BILL

Majority of Members of the House Banking Committee Agree to Program Proposed by President.

Washington, June 20.—President Wilson tonight secured from a majority of the democratic members of the house banking and currency committee expressions of harmony and acquiescence in the administration program of enacting a currency bill during the present session of congress.

At a two-hour conference held around the cabinet table in the White House offices, the congressmen were asked their views on the administration currency bill. Some of them had not yet thoroughly examined the measure, but those who expressed opinions were favorably inclined toward it. When the fourteen committeemen filed out of the office and a group of correspondents met them, Representative Glass smilingly referred the correspondents to the president. Just then Mr. Wilson himself walked to the door of the office and talked with the newspapermen.

Friendly Toward Measure.

The president explained that the meeting was chiefly a get-together affair, that naturally some of the details in the bill had brought out considerable discussion, but that so far as he had observed there was a friendly feeling toward the fundamentals of the administration measure. Mr. Wil-

ARCHDEACON STUCK REACHES THE SUMMIT OF MOUNT M'KINLEY

Fairbanks, Alaska, June 20.—The ascent of the highest peak of Mount McKinley was accomplished for the first time June 7, when the party led by Archdeacon Hudson Stuck, Episcopal missionary for Alaska, accompanied by Robert C. Tatum, Harry P. Karstens and Walter Harper, reached the top of the south peak of the mountain, the highest on the continent.

The news was received today by a messenger sent by Dr. Stuck, who is resting at the base camp. Archdeacon Stuck expects to return to Fairbanks in August and will go to New York in October as delegate for Alaska to the general convention of the Episcopal church.

Archdeacon Stuck confirmed the ascent of the north peak by Thomas Lloyd and three companions in 1910, being able, with field glasses, to see the flagstaff erected by the Lloyd party.

"After completing observations on the summit we hoisted the American flag on the upper basin, erected a six foot cross and said 'te deum' on the highest point of North America," says his message.

Pretty Telephone Operator Marries Man Who Courted Her Over Phone Two Years

MRS. P. S. ANDERSON.

A climax to two happy years of courtship over telephone, during which time neither had seen the other, came yesterday afternoon when Miss Clyde Brown, a former operator at the Atlanta telephone exchange, was married to P. S. Anderson, traffic clerk in the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway office.

Their telephonic acquaintance began when the traffic clerk, on the occasion of a wreck, enlisted the services of the operator in assisting him with

Atlanta is an admirable city for conventions.

"Yours very truly,
"WILLIAM H. ROBERTS."

Letters that came after the gas show to J. C. Rushin, business manager of the Atlanta Gas Light company, and chairman of the exhibition committee of the show, place Atlanta in a splendid light as an entertainer of national conventions and exhibitions.

Among a number of congratulatory messages sent to Mr. Rushin a few excerpts from the following letters show what business men in other cities think about the Gate City.

Chicago Boosts Atlanta.

F. P. Kelsey, vice president and editor of The Gas Record, of Chicago, says in part:

"Needless to say, Mr. Rushin, we people in Chicago feel that you have made a wonderful success of the convention, and wish to congratulate you most heartily. I wish you would look into the next issue of the Gas Record for a tangible expression of this feeling."

A. P. Brill, general manager of the Ruud Manufacturing company, of Pittsburg, wrote a similar letter to Mr. Rushin.

In part it is as follows:

"To get down to plain talk, I want to say that this gas show was done the Ruud Manufacturing company more good than any we have ever attended. Our exhibit was handled in a most expeditious manner, and without a hitch of any character, and while you may not know much about what troubles we have had formerly, I do, and I cannot speak too strongly of how this was worked out."

The vice president of another large firm writes to Mr. Rushin on the application of hospitality to business shown during the gas show.

Southern Hospitality in Business.

He is A. G. Lloyd, vice president of the Lloyd Construction company, of Detroit, and his letter, in part, follows:

"Southern hospitality is a thing that I understand, for I have been going south for my vacation without a break for ten years, but hospitality applied to business was new to me, and I consider that you applied your hospitality to the Atlanta show, for there certainly was nothing that you had at your command that was not freely given, and each exhibitor was treated at the show in the same manner as he would have been had he been a guest at your own house."

H. W. Hunter, president of the Baltimore Gas Appliance and Manufacturing company, also took occasion to write his appreciation of the way in which the Atlanta gas show was handled. That part of his letter to Mr. Rushin referring to this follows:

"I want to take this occasion to thank you for the many courtesies extended to us while in Atlanta, and want to assure you that, in my opinion, the convention was by far the best that has ever been held by the National Commercial Gas association. Of course, I am now speaking from the manufacturers' standpoint, and judging by the results that we have secured as the result of exhibiting our goods in Atlanta."

FINGERS OF NEGRO AROUND HER THROAT WAKES YOUNG WOMAN

Sylvester, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—A young lady who is visiting the family of a prominent citizen of this town was aroused by the grip at her throat of the fingers of a negro, who had gained entrance into the room she occupied through an open window about 2 o'clock this morning.

Her screams alarmed another lady who was sleeping in the same room, who immediately aroused the household. The negro made his escape through the window before assistance arrived.

Neighbors gathered rapidly and a searching party was organized with Sheriff L. A. Potts and Chief of Police M. E. Crow at the head. The county bloodhounds were secured and chase was given the fugitive. This, however, has proved fruitless up to noon owing to the long start secured by the fugitive before dogs could be secured from the county camp. The young woman is able to give only a vague description of the general appearance of the negro.

CHURCH CIRCLES MEET TUESDAY AFTERNOON

The regular meeting of all the circles of the St. Mark church will be held in the Sunday school room next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. An enjoyable program is predicted by Mrs. Lott Warren, the president.

Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin will address the ladies on the subject of the Travelers' Protective Aid society, and there will be a musical program. A full attendance is desired.

MAN AND SISTER HURT IN MOTORCYCLE CRASH

M. I. Seals Drives His Machine Across Sidewalk in Order to Avoid Street Car.

Forced to steer the speeding motorcycle on which he was riding with his sister, Miss Bertha Seals, over the curbing and across the sidewalk, M. I. Seals drove his machine into an obstruction on Peachtree and Sixth streets last night to escape collision with an oncoming street car.

Both he and his sister were painfully injured. They were rushed to Grady hospital, where it was found that their wounds were not serious. Later they were able to return to their home, 760 Capitol avenue. The motorcycle was badly damaged.

Eye-witnesses say that Seals, with his sister, riding tandem on the machine, was driving out Peachtree street from downtown at a lively rate. At the intersection of Sixth street a trolley car and an automobile hemmed his machine between the two. To avert a collision he swerve dtoward the sidewalk.

The motorcycle climbed the curbing, crossed the sidewalk, crashed into an obstruction, throwing both riders several feet into the air. They were badly dazed and the large crowd of pedestrians and trolley passengers who witnessed the accident ran to their aid.

son said, moreover, that the members of the committee seemed all to desire action at the present session, but that they had asked him not to hurry consideration of the bill, so that it might be deliberated upon carefully. The president remarked that he had had no intention of seeking hasty action, and hoped that by common counsel and conferences a measure satisfactory to the party would be obtained.

There was no detailed examination of the bill section by section at the conference. It was to urge upon them the necessity of attending by the administration measure, subject to amendments, that the conference was called. There will be other conferences at the White House in the near future, but the president felt after tonight's meeting that a start had been made toward unifying sentiment on the administration bill.

Comment by Senators.

Comments on the measure by senators were startling. Several expressed the belief that the provision asked by Senator Owen for the retirement of national bank notes and the refunding of the 2 per cent government bonds now securing that currency, with a like issue, should have been left in the bill. The most striking criticism of the measure came from Senator Nelson, a republican member of the senate currency committee.

"The bill made public by Mr. Glass seems to me but a temporary makeshift, he said, "and does nothing more than the Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency law. It is simply a provision for emergency currency and is more cumbrous in its character than the Vreeland bill.

"While it professes to decentralize by creating twelve or more reserve associations, it leaves control in the hands of a single board located here at the national capital, composed largely of government officials.

"It fails utterly to amend or improve our present system of national banks and the system of issuing secured currency appertaining to them. At best, it can only be looked upon as a temporary measure."

GEORGE M. NORMANDY HEADS PILGRIM CLASS

George M. Normandy was elected president of the Pilgrim class of Central Congregational church at its semi-annual business meeting, held last evening. Other officers for the ensuing term were: Vice president, Philip P. Shaw; secretary, O. M. Fuller; treasurer, H. D. Barber.

A review was made of the work for the past six months and a program outlined for the summer. Sunday services will be conducted at the convict camp; substantial benevolent work will be carried on; the baseball team now in the league; the Sunday School league will be ably supported; the chorus will furnish music at the church every summer. The equipment is being secured through the generosity of a friend of Mrs. George L. Hanscom, teacher of the class.

WILL INCREASE FORCE ON TRUNK SEWER JOB

At the meeting of the public works committee of the Fulton county commissioners today Chairman Shelby Smith states that he intends to take steps to increase the force of men now at work on the trunk sewer on Highland avenue and Butler street so as to make it possible to complete the immense job in as short a time as possible.

"A force of men has already been put to work there," stated the chairman last night, "and a steam shovel is also in use, but we have something like 900 feet of sewerage to build and the job will require a large force of men."

Citizens of that section have been urging the work for some time by mass meetings and appeals to the commissioners, who were asked to hasten to the work as soon as possible, and they are gratified that work has actually started and that there is a prospect for an increase to the force.

PRESIDENT WILL SIGN SUNDRY CIVIL BILL

Washington, June 20.—After the cabinet meeting today it was said at the white house that President Wilson would sign the sundry civil appropriation bill with its provisions forbidding use of funds for prosecution of labor unions and farmers' organizations under the anti-trust law. The president, however, will write a memorandum giving his attitude toward the exemptions and his reasons for signing the bill.

MEDIATION ACT OPPOSED BY SECRETARY WILSON

Head of Labor Department Says Proposed Measure Goes Beyond Needs of Labor.

Washington, June 20.—Vigorous opposition from the new department of labor to the proposed arbitration and mediation act, prepared by the railroads and railroad brotherhoods for enactment by congress, was voiced today when the measure was presented to a joint session of the house and senate interstate commerce committees.

Secretary Wilson criticised the new measure as going beyond the necessities of the hour. He suggested that the only emergency legislation needed was amendment to increase of the size of the board of mediators under the Newlands act. He was not in favor of creating a bureau of mediation.

Seth Low, president of the National Civic federation, had informed the committee that the railroads and brotherhoods had agreed upon a new bill, which would create a commissioner of mediation and conciliation, appointed by and responsible only to the president. This commissioner, with two designated government officials, would constitute a board of mediation and conciliation, to whom matters of dispute could be referred.

Mr. Low said he thought the bill should be passed immediately. He added that he was uncertain as to whether the railroads and the brotherhoods would agree to Secretary Wilson's suggestion.

Consideration of the bill will be continued.

FRIENDS CELEBRATE THE 75TH BIRTHDAY OF MAJ. J. A. BLANCE

Cedartown, Ga., June 20.—(Special.) At an all-day gathering the friends of Major Joseph A. Blance, including he Polk County Bar association, the Confederate Veterans, Sons of the Confederacy, Daughters o fthe Confederacy, today celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday.

The celebration took place at "Rural Retreat," his beautiful country home, and the several hundred people present spent a day long to remembered. Judge F. A. Irwin, of the city court of Cedartown, was master of ceremonies, and a beautiful loving cup was presented Judge Blance by the Polk County Bar association. One of the most enjoyable features of the day was an old-fashioned Georgia barbecue.

The address of the day was made by Dr. E. H. Richardson, of Cedartown, who, in closing, said:

"This splendid assembly, in this beautiful grove of the neighborhood, and friends of our gallant and cavalier friend, Major Joseph A. Blance, to honor him while living, in the flesh among us, surely is an inspiring spectacle, auguring that our noble friend is persona grattissima with his neighbors. What a many neighbors think and say about him while living, is a knock-down and drag-out answer to the misrepresentations and slanders of his enemy, obliquy and calumny uttered against him are as the frailest violet of the valley beneath the fatal crush of an avalanche descending from the summit of the towering Alps; or as chaff before the winds, and as a summer cloud which the storm bloweth away."

TWO MASKED WOMEN HOLD UP POSTMASTER WITH PNEUMATIC GUNS

Guthrie, Okla., June 20.—Two women wearing masks entered the postoffice at Georgia, Okla., early today, covered Postmaster Holter with pneumatic guns and looted his till. They secured $75 in currency, a bag containing two thousand pennies and two gold watches. The bandits then told the postmaster to sit down. "Now you keep quiet until we beat it from this burg or we will flog you," said one.

The women walked out, mounted horses ana rode away. No attempt at pursuing was made.

INDICTMENT IS UNJUST, SAYS JAMES H. DODGEN

"The charge of larceny after trust made against me is absurd, and will be so shown by the court," says Attorney James H. Dodgen, in reference to the indictment found by the grand jury, charging Frank P. Feaster with stealing money from and not representing John Wilson, a negro who was recently sentenced to eight months for gaming.

Mr. Dodgen states that the bill, based upon the evidence of this negro, has done him an injustice, but that he does not blame the grand jury for it, as the bill was returned on an ex-parte hearing and, as is usually done, without giving the defendant an opportunity to explain the true status of the case.

The indictment charges that the attorney obtained $20 from the negro and then failed to represent him at the hearing, and in reply to this, Mr. Dodgen states that it is true that he represented this negro at one time in the criminal court, and after foreclosing a mortgage, succeeded in collecting one-tenth of the fee. He asserts that the money he did obtain was for the former action for the negro, and that the larceny charge is absurd.

POSTPONEMENT LIKELY IN LEO FRANK'S TRIAL

Doubt is expressed around the Fulton superior court that Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil factory, now under indictment for the murder of Mary Phagan, an employee, on the afternoon or night of April 26, will go to trial during June.

This date was the one upon which the solicitor had suggested that the trial might be held, but it is believed that if the state should prove to be ready at that time, that the defense would move to postpone the trial, pending further investigation and preparation on their part.

Should the trial start on June 30 it would be less than two months since the commission of the crime with which Frank is charged and it is unusual in Georgia for a man to go to trial for his life within such a short time after the crime has been committed.

Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey, who has spent the past week in New York, presumably on a recreation trip, is expected to return by Sunday or Monday, and following his arrival preparations will probably start for the trial, provided he intends to call it on that date.

P. S. ANDERSON.

COURTED HER TWO YEARS OVER THE TELEPHONE

a number of emergency calls. The following night he telephoned his thanks, and after that his calls became nightly affairs.

Love Comes Over Phone.

For twenty-four months he talked each evening with the girl at the exchange, insisting, much of the time, that they become better acquainted and enjoy together some of the city's showplaces and amusements. She demurred because they had never been introduced, and vowed she would never meet him until they had been made conventionally acquainted.

Two months ago they were introduced through the medium of a girl chum of the operator. Friday afternoon she came to her home, 66 West Linden street, accompanied by Anderson. She led him into the reception parlor and called for her mother.

"Mama," she announced as her parent entered the room, "I've brought you a son-in-law. Meet my husband, the Mr. Anderson you've heard me speak of so much."

While astonished, Mrs. Brown shook hands with the smiling young addition to the Brown household, the daughter explaining that they couldn't wait and had insisted that the marriage be held in Judge Girardeau's Hunter street courtroom that afternoon.

They will reside at 66 West Linden. The bride has been employed at the switchboard of the Southern railway building for the past several months, and will continue her duties there for several more days.

Bride Tells the Story.

A reporter for The Constitution, who called at the Brown home last night, found her willing to tell of the romantic courtship and its happy culmination.

"Oh, it was great fun," she said, "wooing over a telephone with somebody you liked and loved but had never seen. It was so romantic to sit at the telephone and talk and conjure up a picture of him. I guessed at his appearance pretty nearly right, too, and what features I missed didn't amount to enough to worry over. I don't know how he felt about it, but I really enjoyed being courted over the phone.

"I'm disappointed in one thing, and that is that we didn't marry over a telephone. It would have been so consistent—wouldn't it?"

"Sure," agreed the young man sitting beside her.

And he wasn't the reporter, either—this young man who sat beside her.

"The unpardonable sin is to permanently reject the Son of God," said W. B. Riley, the evangelist, at the Tabernacle revival Friday night. "The unpardonable sin is no single act—it is neither drunkenness, lust, nor even murder.

"All manner of sin and blasphemy may be forgiven except the blasphemy of the Holy Ghost. My plea is that men accept Jesus as the sinners' substitute and be saved. Hell is a Christless eternity."

The Tabernacle conference and revival begins its sessions early today. At 6:30 o'clock this morning Dr. Riley will speak on "The Resurrection of Bodies of Believers." At 10 o'clock this morning he will talk to women only on "Special Temptations." He will also speak at 8 o'clock tonight, and four times tomorrow.

Great preparations are being made for his Sunday revivals. He will speak in the Sunday school at 10 o'clock in the morning, and at 11 o'clock he will address the church members. Many churches will unite at the Young Men's Christian association mass meeting, which he will address at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and his final Sunday sermon will be at 8 o'clock in the evening.

PARK FAMILY HOLDS REUNION AT AMERICUS

Americus, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—Eighty descendants, representing the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of the J. A. Park family, assembled in Americus today in annual reunion, and the occasion was rendered notable in many respects. Several south Georgia counties, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Texas were represented in the Magnolia and Dorsican Petroleum companies of Texas, the Standard Oil companies of New Jersey and New York, and sixteen individuals, was concluded late today. The hearing, which is before a special commissioner and preliminary to the trial of the suit at Greenville, Tex., next fall, will be resumed at Beaumont next Monday.

The greater part of today's session was devoted to the introduction of documentary evidence in support of the contention of the state that the two Texas concerns and Standard Oil interests are so closely allied as to be prejudicial to general oil trade conditions in this state.

COBB COUNTY MAN FATALLY HURT WHEN THROWN FROM MULE

Athens, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—Foster Young, a young man living near Athens, is dead as the result of having been thrown from the back of a mule, receiving internal injuries which caused death within a short while.

It seems that Young on yesterday afternoon sent a younger brother on a mule to a neighbor's for buttermilk. The animal became refractory and threw the lad off. The older brother then determined to ride the mule. He had no sooner mounted the animal than it plunged, throwing him off with such force as to tear the bark off a nearby tree. He died before a doctor could be summoned.

SCORE SLAUGHTER HOUSE CONDITIONS

Loathsome Condition Found in Griffin Concern Investigated by the Department of Agriculture.

Conditions rivaling the Chicago packing house scandals are being unearthed in connection with the slaughter of food animals in Georgia by Dr. H. C. Hutchens, assistant state veterinarian, who is conducting an investigation for the state department of agriculture. He made a report to his chief, State Veterinarian Peter F. Bahnsen, yesterday of what he found in his inspection of a large slaughtering concern near Griffin.

Commenting on the report, Dr. Bahnsen said:

"This firm does the slaughtering for most Griffin market men. Here is what Dr. Hutchens found:

"The slaughter house is located about 2 miles from town. Topographical surroundings are fair, proper drainage could easily be established; with proper equipment an ideal slaughter house may be maintained at this place.

Sickening Conditions Found.

"The building is about 12x24 divided into two compartments. Both doors to the killing floor are wide open, the doors to the other compartment are locked. The floor of the killing room is made of planks loosly put together, the large crevices between the planks allowing blood and offal to pass under the floor. The floor is covered with a mass of blood, grease and filth more than half an inch thick. Walls are as filthy as blood and grease could make them.

"Blood and offal is just pushed out of the back door of the killing room, where is an accumulation of more than two tons of the same covered with flies and filled with maggots. Hoofs, horns, heads and bones surround the place in all directions. About forty feet from the building a load of city garbage has been dumped.

Filthy Water.

"The water supply consists of an accumulation of surface water in a shallow well about ten foot deep lined with 12-inch sewer pipe. The water is as filthy as surface water could possibly be, countless dead and living bugs were floating on the water surface.

"The odor from these premises could be detected more than 500 yards away. In the immediate vicinity of the slaughter house it is unbearable."

State Supervision Necessary.

Continuing the discussion as to conditions found in other places in the state which had been investigated, Dr. Bahnsen added:

"The slaughter houses being located outside of the incorporate limits of the towns or cities are not under the supervision of the city or town sanitary organizations; even when people file complaint against such existing conditions the owners of such premises ignore the protest. State supervision of the slaughter houses is an absolute necessity."

Following the investigations made, the commissioner of agriculture will summon to a hearing the offending butchers and will order prosecutions instituted in cases where the pure food law of the state has been violated.

PIEDMONT LAKE WATER PURE, SAYS COCHRAN

President of Park Board Incensed Over Reports of Pollution by Sewage.

"There are more false alarms in Atlanta than any other cit yin the south," says President J. O. Cochran, of the park board. "To illustrate my assertion I want to explain that there are a lot of people, several physicians included, who are trying to drive people from the bathing beach at Piedmont lake by spreading rumors that the water is polluted with sewage. The rumors are false. Piedmont lake water is just as pure as the water Atlanta is drinking."

President Cochran is very much wrought up over the rumors spread among the bathers that Piedmont lake water is polluted with sewage and is likely to cause typhoid. He intimated Friday that he would ask the city bacteriologist, Dr. Claude Smith, to make a chemical analysis of the water just to prove that the rumors are not well founded.

"A million gallons of water are pumped into the lake every twenty-four hours," President Cochran told The Constitution Friday. "Half a million gallons are pumped in where the bathers use the lake, and half a million more at one end of the lake. The water is constantly flowing out and in. The water is fresh every morning. It comes from the city's reservoirs, and is the same water that has been pronounced absolutely pure, wholesome and rich with mineral properties, by the United States government."

President Cochran made an investigation of reports that there was a bad odor to the water, and learned that the smell emanated from the open sewer in the rear of Piedmont avenue. Residents have complained of the smell nuisance, and the county commissioners have started work closing the gap.

"SURVEY" IS COMPLETED; EXPERTS RETURN HOME

The "social survey" of Atlanta, made by the experts sent here from the Russell Sage foundation in New York on the invitation of the chamber of commerce committee, has been completed. The last of the experts, Dr. Franz Schneider, Jr., will leave for New York today. Zenas L. Potter returned to the metropolis last night, while Shelby M. Harrison, chief of the "survey," left early in the week.

The preliminary investigation having been completed, all that remains now is for the "surveyors" to make up their report, which will probably not be furnished for several weeks. The report of the experts, it is expected, will contain some interesting information as to Atlanta social conditions.

PICTURE OF GENERALS GIVEN TO BROWN CAMP

A very fine engraving of General Robert E. Lee, General Stonewall Jackson and General Stuart, in full speed riding down the line on the morning of the battle of Fredricburg, has recently been donated to W. P. Archer, adjutant of Joseph E. Brown Camp, No. 1276, C. V., by Mr. Hammond, of the Hammond Sign company, this city.

Mr. Hammond says that this fine picture has been in his home for fifteen years, but that he felt that it could be used to a better advantage by transfering the ownership to some confederate camp. Mr. Hammond is a born southerner, and a Georgian by birth.

Voluntary Bankruptcy Petitions.

Two voluntary petitions in bankrmruptcy were filed with the clerk of the federal court yesterday. James G. Landers, of Atlanta, a locomotive engineer, declared his liabilities to be $1,882.19, with no assets.

LAW MAY STOP COUNTY FROM AIDING YANCEYS

Chairman of Commission Says Action Will Have to Be Decided Upon Legal Status.

Action by the county commissioners in following the resolution of the grand jury that they appropriate a substantial sum for the family of Deputy Dave Yancey, who was killed last Monday in trying to arrest a negro thief, is problematical, and, according to Chairman Shelby Smith, will have to be decided upon its legal status.

The fund for the family which is left practically destitute by the death of the deputy is still growing slowly, and enough money has been publicly subscribed to purchase the $900 home on The Jonesboro road, which Yancey was trying to pay for in installments at the time of his death.

The fact that Lois, aged 15, the oldest of the six children, had to be taken back to the hospital Friday on account of relapse caused by the tragedy, will add new burdens to the family and makes the case even more pitiful.

Chairman Smith stated last night that personally he would like to see the county subscribe a substantial sum to the fund, as he believed Deputy Yancey to have been worthy of it, and heartily favored aiding his widow and children, but that it might be possible that the laws controlling the distribution of the public funds would prevent the commissioners acting.

Various subscriptions are coming in to Sheriff C. W. Mangum from day to day, and it is hoped that enough money will be raised to give the family something to live on.

As a means of raising more money, a dance will be given next Friday night at the Owls' club, for which tickets are now being sold in large numbers.

Ladies will be admitted free to the ball room, and the tickets for men are going at only 25 cents each. The entertainment was planned by Deputies H. E. Latham and N. A. Garner, and D. L. Goodlin, Jr., a clerk in the solicitor's office, and they are selling tickets throughout the city. They hope to raise at least $300 by this means.

MISS LOUISE REYNOLDS SUES CITY FOR DAMAGES

Miss Louise Reynolds, a 16-year-old girl, of 17 Oglethorpe avenue, brought a $5,000 damage suit against the city of Atlanta yesterday in superior court for personal injuries alleged to have been received when she fell through the manhole which it is charged was improperly constructed. Her mother, Mrs. Shirley Reynolds, asks $2,500 on the same account.

The young girl, who is represented by Attorneys Felder, Anderson, Dillon and Whitman, states that she is a clerk for the Western Union Telegraph company and on April 9 was on her way to work when at Lee and Oglethorpe avenues, she stepped upon a manhole and by the tilting of the lid was thrown into the cavity.

Miss Reynolds claims serious internal injuries, which she says have permanently impaired her health and rendered it impossible for her to continue at work. She also states that her leg was badly bruised and her back wrenched. Her mother, in a suit filed at the same time, asserts that she is a widow and dependent, to a great extent, upon her daughter's earnings.

NEW FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY ENTERS STATE

The Rhode Island Fire Insurance company complied with all the requirements of the Georgia laws, and has deposited $10,000 in city of Atlanta 4 1-2 per cent bonds with the state treasurer.

According to the statements submitted by the company to the insurance commissioner, this company has a paid up capital of $400,000, with assets of $1,298,360.65, and surplus over liabilities of $377,233.

MAY ADD APPLE EXHIBIT TO GREAT CORN SHOW

Suggestion by Chairman H. B. Wey Meets With Wide Approval.

The latest development at the Atlanta chamber of commerce in connection with the campaign to raise funds and support for the 1913 corn show is the suggestion that an apple show be added to the big event.

The suggestion is made by H. B. Wey, chairman of the committee on horticulture, and has already met with wide approval. Mr. Wey has promised that he will lend every possible aid in the corn show campaign.

Letters poured into the chamber of commerce Friday from leading Atlantans and prominent people all over the state, promising support for the 1913 show, and declaring the belief that it was the greatest single influence at work in Georgia for agricultural progress.

The statement that Georgia is spending more for imported foodstuffs each year than the whole value of her cotton crop, has stirred everybody who is interested in Georgia's agricultural welfare to the necessity of active reform along lines of crop diversification and the raising of animals.

Joel Hurt Enthusiastic.

Joel Hurt, in the course of a letter to Secretary Walter G. Cooper, says: "During the last convention two of these boys were entertained at my home. We were interested in talking with them. I believe the movement to organize and foster corn clubs has been of untold benefits to the state, and even to other states. By all means keep it alive, at least until the attention of every farmer in Georgia has been directed to the economic possibilities of growing his own foodstuff."

H. C. Foster, division manager of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical company, said: "It will be my pleasure to serve on your committee. I will do all I can to try to interest the others and to raise the necessary $2,000, and more, if possible."

R. F. Shedden says in the course of his letter: "I am considerable of a corn club man myself, and I am sure our league (the Raymond Civic and Progressive league) will be very glad to do what it can to co-operate with the chamber of commerce." The Raymond league is in Coweta county.

Ready to Give Aid.

The Swift Fertilizer works says: "We are thoroughly in accord with you in encouraging these exhibits. We have contributed in the past to the Georgia corn show, and we have no doubt our people will be willing to contribute again. If we can assist you in any other way please let us know."

W. H. White, Jr., of the White Provision company, has written, promising to lend his active endeavor to the cause.

W. D. Manley, of the Bankers' Trust company, says: "Your letter does not permit of any argument. Push the corn club and corn show as vigorously as possible."

A. B. Simms, of the Fulton National bank, says: "We heartily concur with you in your endeavor to increase the production of corn in this state."

Scores of other letters expressing same sentiment have been received.

The Southern States Life Insurance company has announced, through President Wilmer L. Moore, that it will donate $100 in prizes for this year's corn show.

A LESSON FOR FATHERS FROM JUDGE PENDLETON

A special feature Sunday at the Second Baptist Bible school will be Father's day. A special lesson for fathers has been prepared by Judge Pendleton which will be of interest to all who are fathers. Also the lessons for members from the junior and intermediate classes will recite verses from the Bible pertaining to fathers. Opening exercises begin promptly at 9:30 o'clock, and all fathers are asked to come, and to bring their children.

VETERINARY DOCTORS ARE NEEDED IN SOUTH, SAYS TORONTO MAN

"In Canada, where animals are not so valuable, there is one veterinary surgeon at every crossing, while here in the south, where animals are more valuable than human beings, there is not one veterinary college in Georgia," said Dr. J. A. McLeay, of Toronto, Canada, at the Georgian Terrace yesterday. He is one of the leaders in the movement to establish the Southern Veterinary college in Atlanta.

"The demand for veterinary surgeons is great and there are no men to fill this demand," he said. "For the past two years there has been a movement to establish a first-class veterinary college in the city of Atlanta.

"The income of a veterinary far exceeds that of the other professions and there are splendid openings in the south for those who take up this profession. The United States government also requires more veterinaries than can be secured.

"Leading educators of the south have indorsed the establishment of such a college, and sufficient funds have been raised to assure a successful opening of the summer session on July 15. The college building will be in close proximity to the great stock markets of Atlanta and these afford clinical work for the students which cannot be excelled anywhere."

THE STATE ROAD.

Few commonwealths in America own an asset so uniquely valuable as the Western and Atlantic railroad. That is why the action of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce in preparing to call a state-wide convention to consider the disposition of this property indicates excellent prevision.

The lease of the state road does not expire until 1919. But six years is none too long a time to dissect and settle the innumerable details inseparable from a problem of such magnitude. Already, several successive legislatures have taken tentative action bearing on the fate of the property. An overwhelming amount of ground remains yet to be covered, however, and the more extensive and thorough the debate on the subject the less likelihood of serious errors.

To a greater degree, perhaps, than at any past time in history, transportation is today the most vital element in civilization. Its availability, cheapness and accessibility determine the fate of industrial empires. The railroad problem is looming larger each year in this country. It is taking on a constantly increasing importance to Georgia. The possession by the state of so valuable a transportation plant gives it a handicap over each other southern state. The chief point is to so handle this plant as to get the greatest good out of it.

The Constitution stands committed at present to no specific plan for disposition of the Western and Atlantic. We incline to the opinion that most of the people of Georgia are also in a receptive attitude. They know that vast changes have come since the latest leasing of the railroad. They know that the property is much more valuable than at that time. They know how intimate a bearing the property has on the educational and fiscal systems of Georgia and how desirable it is that it be so managed as to conserve and utilize its dividend-bearing possibilities.

A state-wide convention will give the people an opportunity for expression. Bringing together the representatives of commercial, civic and other bodies it will assure that the topic will be broached from every angle. Turning full light on the proceedings, it is also likely to farther a policy that will consider the road's disposition not alone from the standpoint of the moment, but also from the standpoint of the wonderful increase in value with which the expanding industry of the next few years is sure to endow it.

A SOUNDER CURRENCY.

The present session of congress will have the opportunity to enact a revision of the currency system. Chairman Carter Glass, of the house committee on banking and currency, has submitted the administration's currency bill to the public. It is to be presented to congress next Monday when President Wilson reads his message to that body.

No bill that might be devised by any party would be criticism-proof. The currency is almost as complicated and baffling as the tariff. Fewer people understand it. Infinitely more people are influenced by it. For as the currency system is the lifeblood of the nation, every man, woman and child has a personal stake in its soundness.

The bill now made public is hardly likely to become law as it stands. The president hardly expects that it shall do so. But he is cognizant of the really pressing need of doing away with our present inadequate system, and he is bent upon losing no time in attacking the task.

The Constitution recommends to its readers that they thoroughly study the provisions of the bill. One trouble about federal legislation is the difficulty of securing an intelligent public hearing for it. The fact that you have a representative and senator in Washington does not relieve you of the obligation of watching out for your own interests. It is not the banker or the capitalist alone who should familiarise himself with the intricacies of the measure. The humblest man in the street, not to mention the farmer and the business men of all classes, are directly interested in a currency system that is panic-proof; that expands when there is need for expansion and contracts when that need is ended; that discourages speculation; that minimizes the danger of inflation, and that places us upon a par with foreign nations in competing for the business of the world.

The measure that now goes to congress purports to accomplish all these things in a safe and scientific manner. Whether that assertion is founded on truth can only be finally demonstrated in practice. But much can be established by full and deliberate study and publicity and it is the duty and self-interest of the country-at-large to help supply these two indispensable factors.

TRULY A ROYAL STORK.

From the royal family of Spain comes one of the most wholesome examples of the old-fashioned virtue of child-bearing recorded in our strenuous and militant day. Queen Victoria has just, for the sixth time, become a mother. She was married to Alfonso of Spain in 1906. This is 1913. If the most prolific of bourgeois can exceed this patriotic industry, show them to us.

We are not seriously alarmed by the race suicide pessimists. A few folk may be thwarting nature. That is no occasion for despondency. We thwart nature in a good many directions, nowadays, and quite often with beneficent motives and results. Indeed, nature expects us sometimes to subdue her, or rather to control her; if we don't, she controls us.

And for the one unit of society that sees fit to evade the call of parenthood, there are one or two others willing to more than compensate. It is well to remember this, when we are tempted to gloom about a temporarily receding birth-rate. And it is well to remember the sturdy motherhood of the Queen of Spain, and the fine effect it must have, in an age that is now just awakening to the other splendid functions and rights of womanhood.

A MODEL CITIZEN.

William Howard Taft is giving an excellent illustration of that curious blend of virtues that go to make up the likable and achieving American citizen. The other day he dropped quietly into Washington, his first visit to the capital since his departure as a newly-made former president. His duties summoned him to Washington as trustee of the Lincoln memorial fund. He seized the occasion to pay his respects to Speaker Champ Clark and other notables. In the evening he was the dinner guest of President and Mrs. Wilson. He had luncheon the same day with Speaker Clark, Leader Underwood and other prominent democrats, republicans and bull moose.

Throughout his intercourse with these men whom he had once so far outranked in official life his attitude was one of frankness, good fellowship and candor. Never once was there an intimation that he remembered the high position he had held and exacted homage because of that memory. Dignified but not stiff, genial and self-respecting, he charmed everyone with whom he came in contact. It is to be doubted if any of our presidents, returning to the scenes of their former glory, were able to carry off the feat as gracefully as did Taft.

The same story is told of him in his new home at New Haven. There where he is a professor at Yale he has entered heartily into the life of the university and the life of the town. Whatever his hand finds to do he does, without vain posing or affectation. He can deliver a lecture criticising some of the more radical tendencies of our day or relax at a social function with equal ease. Qualities such as these have led The Athol (Mass.) Transcript to say of him:

> The former president is evidently enjoying his freedom from official cares, and enters into the work-a-day world with that large-heartedness, abounding good nature and optimism that have ever been characteristic of him. He is truly one of our very greatest men, and the kind that people love to honor. The full measure of his qualities and usefulness is not yet reached by any means.

All this is true, even that portion which attributes greatness to Taft. For is not the ability to accept with equal blitheness brilliant victory and crushing defeat a characteristic of real greatness? And in that achievement, if no other, no one will deny the former president pre-eminence.

The chance of a lifetime has come to the man whose ambition has been to talk the tariff to death.

It's certainly a working administration, and the man caught watching the clock is brought to time.

It is evident that the Moros won't lay down their arms until they're knocked off their feet.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON
The Famous Prose Poet

CHARMS OF SOLITUDE.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

"The woods remove man's griefs and fears, supply his normal wants; why does he, then, through all his years, infest the busy haunts?" inquired the wild man of the woods, as he peeled an early June twig. "In the springtime especially the forest primeval is in a class by itself. I don't deny that the hermit life has its disadvantages in the winter, when the tempest rages loud and long, and the stormy winds do blow, but the spring compensates for everything.

"I sit in freedom under the murmuring pines and the hemlocks, and think of the sufferings of married men who live in town, and am thankful that my lines are cast in pleasant places. In the spring the town dwellers are afflicted with a mania for cleaning up. The women are responsible for it, and they are responsible for most things which are disagreeable. If you could show me a town inhabited by men only, I might consent to abandon the sylvan solitudes. But women are swarming in every American town, and so there is no peace or comfort. Men realize the futility of cleaning up every spring. What's the use of gathering up tin cans and dead cats, and paying out good money to have them hauled away, when they begin to accumulate again the first thing? If it stopped there, my son, it might be endured; but it doesn't stop there. The married women always are looking for new worlds to conquer when it comes to cleaning up.

"In the spring a man naturally wants to loaf and contemplate the scenery. If he lives in town, and is married, he isn't permitted to do that. His wife begins housifier early in the spring by cleaning the house, which doesn't need cleaning, and, instead of being ashamed of her conduct, she takes pride in it, and is incensed because her husband doesn't grow enthusiastic when he eats his dinner on the cellar stairs, the dining room furniture being piled up in the back yard. If he sits down on the porch to smoke a pipe and read the baseball scores, his wife reproaches him and says he should be ashamed to sit idle when she is working her fingers to the bone making the house fit to live in.

"Why doesn't he clean up the yard and paint the fence and wash the buggy and grease the wheelbarrow and make himself generally useful? She shames him into foolish activity. Against his better judgment he sets to work and rakes up the old cans and dead animals, and does an impressionist job on the fence with his whitewash brush, and makes everything ridiculously neat and tidy. Then he thinks he can read the sporting page with a clear conscience but no sooner does he seat himself than his wife comes to him with a Lady Macbeth expression on her face, and asks him if he thinks it fair or decent to sit there like a graven image, while the wife of his bosom is breaking her back straightening things around in the basement?

"Why doesn't he take a butcher knife and a can of gasoline and kill the dandelions on the lawn? It's a disgrace the way the dandelions are going to seed. So, in order to have peace in the family he gets the necessary weapons and wages war on the dandelions, and if a man ever looks and feels silly, it's when he's skirmishing around the lawn on his hands and knees killing dandelions.

"It's slow and laborious work. You have to amputate the head of the dandelion with your knife and then inject some gasoline in the stem with a spring-bottom oil can, and all the time refrain from using language that will get your name in the papers. There might be some satisfaction in it if this process killed the dandelions, but it doesn't. They thrive on it, and increase and multiply, yet women insist upon sending their husbands forth on their bended knees to carry on this senseless crusade.

"Things are getting worse and worse in the towns, since the women became active. They are always jacking up the police officials, getting them to do foolish things, and nowadays a man must keep the alley back of his place clean, as well as his own yard. If he happens to leave an extinct hen in the alley over night a policeman will be at the door in the morning, inviting him to take a walk.

"Life is a weary burden to the householder in town, and the surprising thing is that the woods aren't crowded with hermits."

Brazil Wants Japanese.

(From The Indianapolis News.)

While the Japanese immigrant is undesirable on our Pacific coast, other countries, foremost among them the thriving republic of Brazil, is extending to him the hand of welcome. Le Bresil Economique of Rio de Janeiro of a recent date notes the arrival at Santos of 1,506 Japanese immigrants. They will be sent to the interior to be employed as agricultural laborers. That paper also announces that a society has been formed for the encouragement of Japanese immigration for the founding of colonies for the cultivation of rice and other cereals. This society also proposes to encourage by these immigrants the culture of tea and the production of silk. The first of these Japanese colonies will be established in the fertile valleys of the Iguape river in the state of Sao Paulo.

Youthful Cynics.

(From The London Graphic.)

So topsyturvy is the time that while our old men are growing younger every day the boys of England are born tired and begin life as old and blase fellows. There is no older man in the world than the Eton boy of a certain type. His cynicism at 13 is shocking to the grandpa who tips him with a gold piece. There is no older old woman in the world than the Girton girl who has read all the books banned by the library censor and is careful about the books her mother reads. As for many of our so-called young men who sit in the windows of St. James' street clubs, wondering why life is such a bore, and who take forty winks after luncheon because life is so beastly strenuous, they haven't begun to enjoy the wine of youth.

Microscope and Building Stone.

(From The Engineering and Mining Journal.)

Especially valuable are the comparative microscopic studies of rock used in building which has resisted weathering for a long time and that which is in process of disintegration. The cause of rapid weathering can be recognized as a natural structural relation. Two granites, for instance, of almost identical mineralogical and chemical composition can behave quite differently. The one remains sound for years; the other disintegrates rapidly because delicate microscopic pressure zones run through it. Two marbles of equal beauty show entirely different powers of resistance as material for a work of art exposed to the weather, according to whether the calcite individuals in thin section interlock with sinuous outlines or merely adjoin each other as paving stones.

The World's Mysteries

MYSTERIES of ANTIQUITY

DID CAESAR SAY, "ET TU, BRUTE?"

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

There is no phrase from the Latin that is more familiar to the reader than that famous remark attributed to Julius Caesar at the time of his assassination in the Roman senate house, "Et tu Brute" (And thou Brutus), and it has been repeated so often that it has come to be an established fact that these were his dying words. In a great measure Shakespeare is responsible for this impression, for he has emphasized it with so much force in his tragedy of the same name.

To the careful reader of history it would appear that Caesar never made this remark. Most of the ancient historians make no mention of it, and credit Caesar with having been speechless at the discovery of the plot to assassinate him by those whom he had looked upon as friends. One writer, however, credits him with having turned to Brutus, when he stabbed, and said, "And thou, my son," but this appears to be equally unauthentic.

Undoubtedly the phrase is a pure fabrication, though the when and the how of it is a mystery. According to Plutarch, Casca, having struck the first blow, Caesar turned upon him and laid hold of his sword, crying, "Villain Casca, what dost thou mean?" whereupon Casca called upon his brother for help.

Some say Caesar opposed the rest and continued struggling and crying out until he perceived the sword of Brutus, then he drew his robe over his face and yielded to his fate.

Nicholas Damascenus mentions no word as being spoken during the assassination except by Casca who he says "called to his brothers in Greek on account of the tumult." Seutonius says that Caesar was stabbed with three and twenty wounds, uttering no sound except a groan at the first blow.

Amid all these conflicting statements no one seems to have handed down the famous "Et tu Brute!" It appears to have been invented long afterwards and the genius of Shakespeare has fixed it indelibly in the popular mind. Seutonius, it may be said, accuses Caesar of having had relations with the mother of Brutus. Hence, the credited remark when Brutus stabbed him, "And thou, my son!" which seems to apply as more than the ordinary term of affection.

The murder of Caesar occurred on the 15th of March, 44 B. C. On the night previous Caesar was at a "last supper" at the house of Lepidas. The conversation turned upon death and as to the kind which was most to be desired. Caesar, who had been signing some papers, looked up and said: "A sudden one. When great men die imaginations subsists that all nature shall have felt the shock."

On the morning of the fatal 15th he decided, at his wife's entreaty, that he would attend the senate that day. When the session was called to order the house was filled and the conspirators were in their places with their daggers ready. It was announced that Caesar would not be present. Thereupon Metellus Cimber, whom it was impossible for him to distrust, went to entreat his attendance, giving reasons to which he knew that Caesar would heed, unless the plot had actually been betrayed.

It was at this juncture that Caesar shook off the uneasiness and prepared to go. As he crossed the hall his statue fell on the stones. He took apparently no notice of this. As he still passed on a stranger thrust a scroll into his hand which he took time to read it on the spot. It contained a list of the conspirators, with a clear account of the plot. He supposed it to be a petition and placed it carelessly among his other papers. When Caesar entered and took his seat the conspirators gathered around him. He knew them all and had good reason to expect some sort of gratitude.

One had a story to tell him, another a favor to ask. Cimber caught his gown as if in entreaty and dragged it from his shoulders. Cassius, who was standing behind him, stabbed him in the throat. He started up with a cry and caught Cassius' arm. Another poinard entered his breast, inflicting a mortal wound. He looked around and saw not one friendly face, but only a ring of daggers pointed at him. He threw his own gown over his head, gathered the folds about him and sank down without uttering another word.

This is the most substantial and likewise the most truthful of the stories regarding the assassination, with the "Et tu Brute" entirely to be discarded. From a phrase used by Cicero in one of his letters it has been supposed, and not without reason, that Brutus was the first to wound Caesar. If that is true it is hard to accept as trustworthy the tradition that it extorted from Caesar the pathetic exclamation of "And thou, my son."

SAVING TROUBLE.

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

Saving trouble is a thing which ruins men and makes mankind great.

All men are born with an ambition to save themselves trouble. In this case trouble generally means work. When a man can save an hour of work he is as happy as if he had just found a quarter and knew a place where he could spend it without too much exertion.

There are two ways of saving trouble. They are as similar as war and peace and their results can be distinguished from each other by a mere amateur. Mankind is divided into two classes according to their motive for saving trouble.

One class of men saves trouble in order that they may have as little of it as possible. One can find these men everywhere, but particularly in places where loafing is the most salubrious and where the job cometh not.

This sort of man will let his corn go uncultivated in order to save himself trouble; will let a customer go away unsatisfied to save trouble, and will save himself so much trouble and worry and labor in an ordinary job that his employer will often sell out in order to get rid of him.

There is another class of men who save trouble in order that they may have time to accumulate more trouble. These men will spend a week in figuring out how to do two hours' work in one, but they will not go fishing in the second hour. They will do two hours more of work.

Trouble saving of this kind has gnabled the world to do its old job in about an hour a day. But it still keeps busy the other eleven hours. As a result where man once was content to, earn his bread and make his clothes from sun to sun, he now does these trifles in no time and spends the rest of his days in designing automobiles, moving picture theaters, new and shocking dances and enlarged money bins.

"The pepsin pill which saves nine-tenths of each meal time."

Betting at Sea.

(From The London Chronicle.)

People at sea bet on all sorts of contingencies. An emigrant ship from England was recently approaching the Australian coast, and an interesting event was expected at any moment in the married people's quarters. Considerable speculation and excitement was developed over the question whether the happy event would take place within or without the three mile limit. A great cheer went up when it was officially announced that the little stranger was legally an Australian, and had earned the £6 baby bonus of the commonwealth. A minute or two earlier and the child would have been a native of Stepney, London, to which parish children born at sea belong.

OPPOSITION.

Win on your mettle.

Grateful to Girl Graduates.

(From The Kansas City Star.)

F. J. Barnkill, a farmer near Great Bend, ran out of names for his cattle, but the names of the girls in the high school class, which he read on an invitation, gave him a new supply. He sent the sweet girl graduate, the daughter of a business associate, a graduation present with the following note:

"Thanks for the invitation. This shopping bag cost $5, but I don't begrudge the money. I raise Hereford cattle, and for a long time I've been having trouble finding names for them all. I have used up the Bible and all the names I could think of besides. On your card I found that people nowadays name their children things that were never in the Bible or anywhere else. Your class list gave me enough suggestions to last a year. Accept my thanks, and when you graduate don't go out and try to be a suffragette or a female doctor. Get married. Yours,

"F. BARNKILL."

Stone Walls.

Along the country roadside, stone on stone,
Past waving grain fields, and near broken soils,
The walls stretch onward, an uneven pile,
With rankling vines and lichen overgrown;
So stand they sentinel. Unchanged, alone,
They're left to watch the seasons' passing slow;
The summer's sunlight or the winter's snow,
The springtime's birdling, or the autumn's moan.
Who placed the stones now gray with many years?
And did the rough hands tire, the sore hearts ache,
The eyes grow dim with all their weight of tears?
Or did the work seem light for some dear sake?
Those lives are over. All their hopes and fears
Are lost like shadows in the morning break.

Red Tape in France.

(Paris Correspondence to New York Sun.)

A curious little monument to French red tape is to be seen at the Petit Palais. The clock in the building has marked the same hour for the last thirteen years, although it is in perfect repair. The explanation borders on the ridiculous.

At the close of the Paris exhibition thirteen years ago a busybody of an official stopped the clock for no other reason that that the exhibition was closing its gates. Since then it has remained stationary, for the simple reason that it does not appear on the list of clocks which the official clock winder or the municipal council has to attend to, and until some particularly energetic member of the council attends to the matter the present state of affairs is likely to continue.

TROOPS ON WAY TO ANNUAL CAMP

Governor's Horse Guard, Candler Horse Guard and Headquarters Second Squadron of Cavalry Leave Atlanta.

By Ogle Grice.

A special troop train left the Terminal station Friday night, carrying the Governor's horse guard, of Atlanta, the Candler horse guard, of Gainesville, and the headquarters of the second squadron of cavalry.

The Gainesville troop under command of young Captain Veal reached Atlanta over the Southern, at 3:55 Friday afternoon. The train which left Atlanta consisted of two baggage cars, three first-class day coaches, three standard sleeping cars.

The state provides day coaches only for the men, but the members of the governor's horse guard chartered a Pullman, paying for it themselves.

The special reaches Brunswick at 5 o'clock Saturday morning. The entire squadron which will have assembled at Brunswick by 8 a. m., will then board special steamers and proceed to St. Simons.

Camp will be established Saturday morning, and in the afternoon the tired militiamen will indulge in the sport of deep sea bathing.

Seamans in Command.

One of the best known officers in the National Guard of Georgia, and one of the most celebrated rifle shots in the United States, Major J. H. Seamans, of Atlanta, is in charge of the second squadron as well as troop A, of Savannah, unassigned. The other troops in the squadron are troop K, of Augusta, troop F, of Gainesville, and troop B, of McIntosh, Liberty county, in addition to the Governor's Horse Guard of Atlanta.

Lieutenant Arthur McCollum, of Atlanta, is adjutant of the second squadron. He has superintended the shipment of the heavy headquarters supplies, and has looked after much of the detail work required to mobilize the squadron.

The quartermaster department is under command of Lieutenant Fay Wilson, also of Atlanta, who has announced that the state has provided sufficient funds to feed the men as well as any one could desire. Lieutenant Wilson has charge of all affairs relating to the transportation of the troops, as well as the providing of all stores. This often taxes peculiar United States army officers, and they are often severely criticised for inefficiency, so Lieutenant Wilson's perfect handling of the transportation of the troops and the provision of food is quite remarkable.

Lieutenant A. Mell Wilson, Jr., of Atlanta, is in charge of the rifle practice, and all matters relating to arms as well as the establishment of the headquarters camp.

Captain B. Benjamin Pearce, of Atlanta, is chief sanitary officer of the squadron, as well as chief surgeon of the hospital corps detailed to accompany the troops.

J. F. Oxford, the well-known contractor, who has been recently appointed sergeant major on the staff of Major J. C. Seamans, commander of the second squadron of cavalry, National Guard of Georgia, will leave with the troop tonight.

Waycross, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—Fearing infection from a horse that had to be killed today, because of hydrophobia, J. W. Freeman will take the Pasteur treatment without delay. The horse was bitten two months ago but only recently showed signs of hydrophobia.

Freeman treated the horse and had a cut place on his left hand during the time he dosed the animal.

J. D. ROBINSON MADE TRUST CO. RECEIVER

Decision of the Court Is That the Guarantee Trust Company Is Insolvent.

The decision of Judge John T. Pendleton, of Fulton superior court, in favor of the petitioning plaintiffs in the case of Delaney and others v. the Guarantee Trust and Banking company, was formally concluded by the filing of a formal order on yesterday.

The order grants all of the prayers of the plaintiffs for injunction and designates as the receiver James D. Robinson, of Atlanta. Mr. Robinson is a well-known merchant, being president of the A. M. Robinson company and director of the Fourth National bank and prominently identified with other commercial and civic organizations.

Company Is Insolvent.

The decision is specifically based upon the conclusion of the court that the company is insolvent, not having sufficient assets to enable it to pay its creditors. The order further recites that investments made by the officers of the company, as disclosed by the evidence, were directly in the teeth of the statutes of Georgia, and that the officers of the company who were trustees of its reserve fund, misappropriated a part of such reserve fund, and that they used that fund for illegal purposes in retiring bonds to pay which they had a right to pay under the contracts between the company and its bondholders.

The provision is made under the terms of the order for the payment of taxes, rents, insurance, purchase money notes and similar obligations of the trust company. In order to protect assets and the officers of the company are enjoined from interfering with the receiver in any manner.

Assets of Company.

The assets of the company consist of real estate, stocks, bonds, notes and accounts, which were estimated by the company at a valuation in excess of $1,000,000, but it was contended by counsel for the plaintiffs in the trial of the litigation that the property, if sold under legal process, would not exceed $500,000.

While the general business of the company cannot be conducted under the terms of the order of Judge Pendleton, it is understood that its present offices will be maintained pending the outcome of the appeal of which notice has been given by the attorneys for the defendant company.

MACON GIRL WILL WED THE SON OF FAMOUS EVANGELIST

Macon, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—When Rev. Reuben A. Torrey, Jr., leaves for Shanghai, China, to begin his labors as a missionary for the Presbyterian assembly he will not go alone as was first planned, but instead will turn the trip into a honeymoon, to be shared by Miss Janet Mallary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Mallary, of Macon.

Mr. Torrey is the son of Rev. Reuben A. Torrey, the famous evangelist, and has been acting as temporary pastor of the Vineville Presbyterian church for two or three weeks before leaving for the foreign field. He and Miss Mallary have been friends for a long time, but during the present visit of Mr. Torrey to Macon the friendship ripened into love, and they decided to cast their lot together, among the heathen Chinese.

The wedding will occur next Thursday, and the young couple will leave for the east before setting sail for China.

INDUSTRIAL COLLEGES URGED FOR GEORGIA

"Trades unions have put the apprentice system out of business, and industrial schools will have to do that work," said L. B. Thompson in an address Friday before the Georgia Association of Teachers in Colored Schools, in which he urged industrial training for negroes.

"In Germany everybody learns a trade, even the sons of the emperor, and there are forty-five industrial colleges in France, but here in Georgia we should be more progressive than we are in offering to the negro opportunities for an industrial education."

His remarks aroused considerable interest because of his standing among local educators, for he has been associated with the Georgia State Industrial college at Savannah for twenty-two years.

Prisoners Seek Discharge.

Edward F. Baker, of Massachusetts, and Frank Howard, of Connecticut, both of whom are now serving terms in the federal penitentiary after conviction in the Massachusetts federal courts, were brought before Judge Newman yesterday morning on habeas corpus writs seeking discharge from prison on the grounds they were sentenced to longer terms than the law permitted. Lamar Hill appeared for the petitioners, the writs having been secured by him some months ago. The representatives of the government announced they were not ready for trial, and the prisoners were sent back to the penitentiary to await a date to be fixed by Judge Newman in the near future for a full hearing.

INVESTIGATE DEATH OF SAVANNAH GIRL STRUCK BY MACHINE

Savannah, Ga., June 20.—Miss Mary Moore, who was struck by an automobile belonging to C. C. Ely and driven by Frank Rivers, died this morning.

Miss Moore was a native of Leeds, Ala., but had been living in Macon with her mother, Mrs. Ida Moore, until recently, when she came to Savannah to secure a position as a stenographer.

The authorities are investigating her death.

Macon, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—Miss Mary Moore, the young stenographer, who was killed in Savannah last night by an automobile, formerly made Macon her home. For several months she was employed as copyholder on The Macon Telegraph. Later she became stenographer to one of the court officials in Jones county, and also taught school. Her home was originally at Leeds, Ala.

Great Crowd Sees Unveiling Of Walsh Monument at Augusta

Augusta, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—The business houses closing at 6 o'clock, there were probably 3,000 people gathered on Barrett plaza at 6:15 o'clock when the heroic bronze statue of the late Senator Patrick Walsh, mounted on a mammoth marble pedestal, was presented to the city and accepted by Mayor L. C. Hayne from the Walsh Memorial association.

The addresses of the occasion by Hon. Clark Howell, of Atlanta, and Hon. Pleasant A. Stovall, of Savannah, both of whom knew Mr. Walsh intimately, were sympathetic and held the rapt attention of the big crowd. Grand nieces of Mr. Walsh, Misses Catherine Smith and Marie Walsh, pulled the cords which loosened the veil from the statue. A commodious stand was erected on the north side of the monument, on which were seated the members of Mr. Walsh's family, the speakers of the day, Mayor L. C. Hayne, of Augusta; members of the city council and other city officials and a number of Mr. Walsh's closest personal friends, who were extended special invitations to occupy seats upon the stand.

Secret orders of which Mr. Walsh was a member attended the exercises in a body. These orders were the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Knights of Columbus and the Elks. The cadet body of the Academy of the Sacred Heart also attended the ceremonies en masse.

Following the introductory music, the invocation by Rev. P. H. McMahon, of Washington, Ga., a close friend of the late senator, and the unveiling, the bronze figure was presented to this city by John J. Cohen, president of the Walsh Memorial association, existence of which dates from the day of Mr. Walsh's funeral in March, 1899. Mr. Stovall and Mr. Howell delivered their addresses following in the order named. The acceptance speech was delivered by Edward B. Hook, who spoke for Mayor Hayne.

The monument is 8 feet in height, placed on a pedestal of practically the same height of white marble, on the adverse side being engraved a laurel wreath. Above and arching over the wreath is engraved a fitting sentiment. On the reverse side are engraved facts relative to Mr. Walsh, the date of his birth, death and others. Cost of the erection is stated to be about $10,000.

COOLING OCEAN VIEW SHOWN ON WHITEHALL

Show Window of J. Eiseman & Sons Co. Gives Glimpse of Beach and Summer Clothing.

One of the most cooling and refreshing views to be found in Atlanta during these sweltering days is that in the show window of J. Eiseman & Sons company at No. 1 Whitehall street. The scene shows a large porch facing the beach and tastily decorated with palms and ferns. In a hammock is seated the figure of a man dressed in the latest of cool summer suits.

On the background of the show window is painted the ocean scene, with the merry bathers on the beach and the clear skies hovering over the sea beyond. The person looking from the sidewalk into the store will feel that the porch out upon the ocean, and it is safe to say that the window has caused more than one passerby to yearn for a light summer suit and a vacation at the seashore. As a tastefully decorated window it stands as one of the prettiest now being shown.—Adv.

CRONIN AGAIN INDICTED BY BIBB GRAND JURY

Macon, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—Patrick Cronin, the proprietor of the Mogul club and of a near beer saloon on Cherry street, was recently indicted by the grand jury today for violating the state prohibition law.

Cronin was recently convicted in the city court and sentenced to three months in jail and a fine of $500. His license was revoked by council, and Attorney John R. Cooper secured an injunction from Judge Mathews in the superior court to restrain the city from interfering with Cronin in the operation of his business until a hearing can be held.

A motion for a new trial has been made, and if overruled it is stated that the case will be carried to the court of appeals.

Following the indictment today the sheriff's men made a raid on the place. They did not find any whisky in the saloon, but found a considerable quantity in the club upstairs.

The four pledges were to secure a home for the chamber of commerce, a convention bureau, a city improvement commission and an industrial and statistical bureau. The following were appointed as the committee on the last named new department of the chamber:

INSURANCE MAN DIES WHILE SELLING POLICY

Cordele, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—Heart failure caused the instant death of L. H. Taylor, one of the most prominent insurance men of Cordele, this morning, at the home of P. S. Barber, where he had gone in company with Kyle T. Alfriend, an insurance man of Macon, to sell Mr. Barber a life policy.

They were seated on the veranda and had been there but a few minutes when Mr. Taylor fell from his chair, dead before he struck the floor.

He is survived by a wife and daughter, Miss Leila Kate, and three sons, Levy and Alex Taylor, of Macon, and Henry W. Taylor, of Waycross.

LEE COUNTY MAN STRANGELY MISSING; FOUL PLAY FEARED

Leesburg, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—W. P. Martin, a large planter of Lee county, has been missing for several days and members of his family express fear that he has either met with foul play or wandered away in a temporarily deranged condition.

Martin when last seen was in Albany, which is only a few miles from his place. This was two or three days ago, and nothing whatever has been heard from him since that time.

Disappeared Tuesday.

Albany, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—At last reports the family of W. P. Martin, a prominent Lee county farmer who disappeared from his home Tuesday, had heard nothing from him. There is no reason whatever, so far as is known, why the family express the opinion that he wandered away while in that he wandered away while mentally deranged.

H. A. Harris, father-in-law of Martin, stated that he was sure this was the true explanation of the latter's disappearance and that he would soon be heard from. Martin has a wife and several small children.

STATE FUNERAL DIRECTORS MEET NEXT IN ATLANTA

Griffin, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—After a two days' session in annual convention the Georgia State Embalmers and Funeral Directors' association adjourned by selecting Atlanta for its meeting place for next year. The final action of the body was to partake of an old-fashioned Georgia barbecue dinner tendered them at Corbin's spring by the undertakers of the city.

Brilliant addresses made on subjects pertaining to embalming and directing funerals by S. R. Greenberg, of Atlanta, and M. Edward Platt, of Augusta. Addresses of welcome were extended the association by Mayor J. H. Smith and Judge Robert T. Daniel, while M. Edward Platt, of Augusta, made response. The deliberations of the convention were directed by S. R. Greenberg, of Atlanta.

Officials elected for another year are as follows: C. L. Stephenson, of Moultrie, president; J. A. Moore, of Milledgeville, vice president; George W. Stearns, of Griffin, secretary and treasurer. S. R. Greenberg, of Atlanta, and Jesse B. Hart, of Macon, were chosen delegates to the national funeral directors' meeting to be held in Milwaukee next October.

This Drunken Cop Thought He Was in Jail When He Got Behind an Iron Fence

Athens, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—The police officers last night took care of a policeman from a town further up the state—the second time the visitor drunk on the street inside of six hours, drunk on the street inside of six hours.

The second time he was found inside of the church yard at the First Methodist corner, stooping beside the grated iron fence, holding to the rods, peering through and crying lustily for assistance to get him out—being under the delusion that he was again in jail. The fence is only two feet high and ordinarily he would have been able to step back over it, after having fallen inside from the sidewalk.

One Dead From Storm.

Jacksonville, Fla., June 20.—Complete reports from all parts of the state today show no additional loss of life as a result of Wednesday's storm which centered near Tallahassee, where one negro was killed. Wire communication, which had been partially demoralized, has been restored.

Weather Forecaster Buried in Cold Waves On a Sweltering Day

"It's Hot Work," He Tells a Constitution Reporter While He Digs Into Records of Last January.

With the temperature registering 90 degrees yesterday and the same forecast made for today, Section Director C. F. von Herrmann, the official delegated by Uncle Sam to have charge of the climate in this section, should by rights be the coolest man between the two polar circles. All Friday he was literally buried in cold waves and has this in prospect for many weeks longer.

In the time he has to spare from compiling his daily forecast and keeping the meteorological conditions tabulated, the weather man is making a study of cold waves and particularly making inquiry into the reasons for certain cold waves not appearing as scheduled by government officials.

"It's hot work," was his only comment Friday afternoon as he glanced upon his desk, where row after row of figures and statistics were strung out and where on a weather map of the country, dated January 13, 1913, and showing snow over the middle section and a temperature of about 40 degrees around Atlanta.

Mr. von Herrmann is loath to go into details of his study, but merely says that he is trying to find out the reason why four cold waves that he forecast last winter failed to materialize. To do this he is making a lengthy study of the conditions preceding a sudden drop in the temperature and trying to compile additional data along new lines.

The director has prepared a number of interesting and instructive papers already for the weather bureau on subjects pertaining to the work and also wrote a complete article on the climate in this section, which was published in a recent edition of The Sunday Constitution, and the present study is expected to give the meteorological experts additional data from which to forecast sudden drops in temperature.

In the meantime no cold wave and not even a cooling shower is in sight for this part of Georgia. The forecast is for fair weather and practically no change in local conditions. The lowest temperature of the past twenty-four hours was 70 degrees and the maximum was 90 at 3 o'clock Friday. The showers for the latter part of the week, as predicted in the weekly forecast sent out from Washington, have apparently failed to materialize in this section.

SAM P. CRONHEIM WINS PROMOTION TO CAPTAIN

Sam P. Cronheim, the popular Atlanta national guardsman, was yesterday commissioned captain by Governor Brown. He will be quartermaster of the Fifth regiment and as such the arrangements for the camp at St. Simons this year will be largely in his hands. While he has just received his justly earned promotion, Captain Cronheim has been acting as regimental quartermaster since the retirement of Captain John Q. Nash about a year ago.

Other commissions issued Friday were to Cecil Neal, of the Candler horse guards, troop F, second squadron of cavalry, Gainesville, promoted captain, Vice Captain John M. Fay, resigned, and Private Rupert McConnell, of the same troop, promoted to a second lieutenancy.

Owing to the two teams having to catch an early train, the game today will be played at 2:45 o'clock. The Barons go to Mobile and the Crackers to New Orleans.

Today's Game Starts at 2:45 O'Clock

EDITED BY
Dick Jemison

WHIFFS

Call Both Games.

CALLER KING will be on the job during the absence of the home team from Ponce de Leon park. Every game on the road trip, which starts with a double-header at New Orleans Sunday, will be called. He will be at his old stand on the Viaduct place.

Not Settled.

KAVANAUGH has not settled the protested game between the Volunteers and the Crackers, other authorities to the contrary notwithstanding. While the chances are that he will order the game thrown out and played over again, he has not notified the Atlanta club that such is the case and has not given any intimation as to when he would notify them of what would be his ruling when he does.

Frank's Claim.

CHUBBY CHARLIE Frank's claims against the Montgomery club in the trade that was proposed whereby the Billikens would give the Pels Hagby and Kutina for pitchers, were not decided either. The league president has not made any ruling on the matter, and will not until he has the facts from both sides before him in writing.

Let 'Em Sleep.

THE JUDGE was endeavoring to kid Charley Frank Tuesday regarding the standing of the Pelicans. "We've got a nice race on now!" said the Judge, "and if Charley Frank can ever get his team out of the cellar we'll have a better one." "Never mind about us," answered Frank, "let us sleep in peace."

Shadows of Past.

THE YEARS of 1908 and 1911 are beginning to cast their shadows on the baseball horizon of 1913. Close scrutination in the big league races now points to the third meeting between the Giants and Athletics for the world's title. The Giants were returned the victors in 1905, the Athletics in 1911. What will be the answer in 1913?

A Good Sport.

SOUR GRAPES stories were circulated in the English press anent the recent international polo matches that the English had been given the worst of the officiating in this match. The English press claimed that the Britons were beaten by the officials and not on merit, the penalty inflicted in the seventh period when Captain Lockett fouled Larry Waterbury, being cited. Captain Miller, manager of the challengers and one of the umpires in the contest, has spiked these stories. He was the official that made the decision and he has insisted that it was just and correct and that the Americans simply rode the English off their feet.

Southern Meet.

ATLANTA tennis stars will leave tonight for New Orleans to compete in the southern championship, which will be held in New Orleans, beginning Monday. C. W. Smith, the present champion, will go to defend his title. He and his partner, Dr. Thornton, winners in the doubles, will also attend, but they will not be paired this year.

College Title.

THE COLLEGE baseball title of the east will be decided at Brooklyn today, when the Yale and Harvard teams meet in their third game, each team having won one and lost one. However, experts claim that even if Harvard Wins, Yale will have the better claim, as are the crimson's record for the season is a bad one, while the Bulldogs will not have lost a series except this victory for the Yale nine will give them undisputed possession. Gile, the famous Yale twirler, will face Felton, the equally famous Harvard exhibitor. The latter is the famous end and punter of the football team.

Have Never Quit.

BIRMINGHAM papers have always had so much to say about the relative merits of the two towns in a baseball way. We'd like to hear from them in this connection. No matter how bad the team goes on the road or has been going, a baseball detail is always pulled off. Birmingham's support does not support the team in the manner that the papers of the Magic City would have outsiders believe. They took no interest in the games in the present series. There'll be a detail of the thirteenth game in Atlanta if the Crackers make the first twelve games on the present road trip. That's how strong we think of our team. (Birmingham scribes please write.)

Brady's Errors Are Disastrous; Barons Capture Second Game; Hardgrove Is Badly Injured

By Dick Jemison.

The Barons made it two straight from the Crackers yesterday afternoon, copping a hotly contested game by the score of 3 to 1.

But the winning came near costing them dearly.

Pitcher Hardgrove was struck by a ball from Smith's bat in the seventh inning that cut a gash to the skull and three and a half inches in length.

Hardgrove was off his balance at the conclusion of his delivery, when Smith smashed one back through the box. The ball was driven viciously, striking just in front of the hurler, and before he could put up his hands in self-protection the ball caromed to his head, striking with such terrific force that it bounded back to the catcher.

Smith Plainly Affected.

Play was suspended and Smith, after having touched first, rushed to the aid of the injured Baron. When he saw the big gash, he turned white as a sheet, his agitation being plainly noticeable from the stands, and it was the latter part of the ninth inning before the natural color returned to his cheeks.

Hardgrove absolves Smith of the blame by stating that he misjudged the ball on the hop, though from the press box it looked like the ball was hit back so swiftly that he did not have time to judge anything.

The wound bled profusely and Hardgrove was assisted from the field, with Smith on one side and Ellam on the other. Dr. Mitchell, the club physician, examined the wound and pronounced it a bad cut, but not serious, by any means, as the skull had not been fractured.

Last night reports from the hotel where the Birmingham team is stopping were that Hardgrove was resting easily and, aside from the pain incident to such a blow, was doing very nicely. No one regretted the incident more than Smith, who called at the hotel to see how the wounded pitcher was getting on.

Reverting to the game, Prough took Hardgrove's place and pitched the remainder of the game.

Sensational Support.

Both Hardgrove and Prough were given sensational support by their team mates, especially Ellam and Kniseley. A great running catch by Kniseley of a drive from Long's bat in the first inning, robbed the Crackers of at least two runs. He caught the ball with one hand as it was going past him, by a great jump sideways. The ball had a home-run tag on it. As Welchonce followed close with a double, there is no telling what might have happened.

Hardgrove had hit considerably harder than the score shows. McBride contributed a couple of nice catches to Ellam's work around short, assisted by Marcan, was of the sensational. Close decisions off the bases were prominent, and every one of them went against the locals, but in not a single incident were the umpires wrong.

Brady contributed to his own defeat with three wild heaves to first base. These, coupled with a couple of Ellam's hits, tossed the old pastime away, as Hardgrove was ringing with his bingles when hits meant runs, and when it looked like a ball hit by a Cracker was a hit the old Irish some brilliant play turned it into an out.

Smith and Island, for the Crackers, did splendid work, their stops and throws rivaling the work of two of the Birmingham infielders mentioned.

Kniseley's Homer.

The hitting is not a special moment to mention, outside of the homerun wallop of Pete Kniseley, the Barons' veteran outfielder. He clouted one on a line over Welchonce's head, the ball striking the center field fence on the first bounce, one of the longest drives ever registered on the local lot.

The Crackers got one or more hits in every inning, but the old punch was lacking. Eleven men left stranded on the sacks is the answer in a nutshell. With the Barons' batsmen resultant at all ball games going to the visitors.

The Crackers were the first to count. Dunn got a free ticket with one gone in the third. He went to third when Brady slammed a single to left, and counted when McBride let the ball get by him. Crackers had numerous opportunities to score after this, but, after a golden opportunity being lost in the ninth, when Catcher Mayer picked Agler off of second base when he got too big a lead.

Kniseley worked Brady for a base on balls to start the Barons' fourth. Brady threw to catch him off of first, hitting Pete on the arm, and he scampered to second before Agler could retrieve the ball. McBride bunted, and when Brady threw the ball to right field, Kniseley counted and McBride pulled up at third. Mayer hit a slow one to short, which he beat out for a hit. Bisland making a great play in holding McBride on third, but Carroll completed a single to center, counting Mac.

Four fast double plays by the Crackers kept down the score of the Barons.

Mobile, Ala., June 20.—A ninth inning rally enabled Mobile to win from New Orleans today, after a well played pitching battle between Berger and McIntyre. The final score was 3 to 2, Mobile tieing and winning out in the ninth. Coming to bat one run behind, Schmidt opened with a double and was sacrificed to third. Hoag sent in as a pinch hitter, singled, scoring Schmidt with the tieing run. Stock could not advance Hoag, but Robertson hit over the right field fence, driving home the winning run. Both pitchers drew excellent support and the battle was even until McIntyre blew in the ninth.

CARLETON SMITH GEORGIA CHAMPION

Defeats Thornton in Challenge Round in Straight Sets—Hallman Consolation Champ—Doubles Today.

By Hal Reynolds.

Carleton Smith downed Nat Thornton yesterday afternoon in three straight sets, 7-5, 6-2, 6-2, in the final match for the championship.

The only close set of the match proved to be the first one, which was a great surprise to those who have been following the tournament closely, as Thornton was thought to be in better shape than Smith, and every set would most likely go into duce.

The first set rocked along with each player winning his serve up until the count stood 5 all in games. Then Smith broke the spell and captured his own serve and also that of Thornton, which gave him the opening set.

Thornton's Serve Poor.

In the matter of serving Thornton was way below form, serving a great number of doubles, which was one of the main reasons for his defeat. He would pull off several nice shots and seemingly about to strike his stride, when his passion for doubles overcame him and several more would be the result.

With Smith he appeared to have perfect control of his serve, dishing out but a few doubles and slipping over the first one in a majority of the cases.

Smith used his old lawford stroke, which he has perfected so well throughout the entire matches. As usual he played on the back court absolutely approaching the net but once over during the three sets. He put across a number of beautiful shots, placing them exactly in the corners and on the lines. His cross-court shots also proved rather troublesome for his opponent, as well as his back-hand strokes.

Hallman, a strong, overhand stroke, sending back some of Smith's shots with rifle-like precision. He approached the net a few times, but finding it rather difficult to handle his opponent's shots there, he retreated into the back court.

Both Wild.

Both players were extremely wild at the beginning of play, not being able to control their strokes, each making several shots which were far out of the court.

In the final of the men's consolation, Singles Jerry Hallman trimmed J. K. Orr, Jr., in a pretty match 6-4, 6-0. Both players used network throughout, it was amusing for them to do so, Hallman put up a consistent game throughout the entire match, getting almost perfect control of his strokes.

It is to be regretted that Hallman was so unlucky as to draw B. M. Grant in the opening round of the men's singles, for had he drawn a slightly more inferior opponent than Grant, he would have been in the consolation.

In the only double match of the afternoon, which was a mixed affair, Miss Stanton and Nat Thornton defeated Mrs. Hall and Carleton Smith 7-5, 6-4.

Miss Stanton featured the play of this match, putting across some swell shots and handling the hard balls of Smith with comparative ease.

There is only one more match to be played, which will be this afternoon at 4 o'clock, Mansfield and Smith facing Grant and Thornton in the final in doubles before this year's meet will be a matter of history.

There is very little to choose between the two teams and there will no doubt be a great match pulled off resulting in an end a most successful meet.

Six Intercollegiate Eights Ready for Today's Struggle

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 20.—The seventeen crews of Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Washington and Syracuse put finishing touches on weeks of training for tomorrow's big regatta with light practice this afternoon. All the crews were on the river.

Tonight the hotel lobbies were thronged with supporters of the various crews. Cornell was the favorite as last year. Not many large wagers were reported and wagers that Cornell will take all three races are but few.

Few people know the fastest time trials of the various crews entered in the big race, but it can be authoritatively stated that the fastest 4 miles made by any one crew was that of Pennsylvania early this week.

Coaches, however, place no dependence on time trials.

Cornell and Columbia are believed to have the smoothest rowing varsity crews. Coach Rice, of the Columbia, and Coach Courtney, of Cornell, both express confidence, and Coach Conibear, of Washington, points to his the heaviest varsity crew. An indication of the commendable speed in the Washington shell is demonstrated by the fact that when under way the swirl from the No. 2 oars passes the rudder, a condition that does not exist with any other crew. The blade of the oar used by the Pacific coast crew also is wider than the oars of the other crews.

The Wisconsin varsity crew will be in the race with its new stroke, Bohstedt, who pulled No. 7 oar until a few days ago. Everts takes the No. 2 oar. Coach Vail says the shell moves faster with the new combination.

Pennsylvania's crews have shown 50 per cent improvement during the last ten days and Coach Ward is now looking forward to good races. The varsity crew will row with Substitute Wolf in Garvin's seat at No. 8.

There will be no practice tomorrow.

The four-oared race is called for 4 o'clock; the freshman race at 5:25 o'clock and the varsity race at 6 o'clock, all races being rowed down stream on the ebb tide.

JOE CONZELMAN FACES BARONS

In Final Game of the Series, Which Will Be Started Earlier—Prough Faces the Crackers.

Local fans are promised a pitchers' battle as balm for the necessity of the game today, the last between the Barons and the Crackers being called at the unearthly early hour of 2:45 o'clock.

Joe Conzelman will twirl for the Crackers and Clinton Prough will be in the mound for the visitors. These two twirlers have as their chief stock in trade an overhand curve drop that, when working right, is the hardest ball in the world to hit. The batting should be fierce.

The Crackers have a world of confidence in Conzelman after his first two starts, and there is likely to be a drubbing handed Mr. Prough, though said drubbings have been few and far between. If our recollection serves us right the Crackers have been Prough once since he became a Baron.

United States Rifle Team Wins.

Washington, June 20.—Beating Great Britain by 41 points, the United States has won the international rifle shooting, small bore, match, just completed, and recaptured the Dewar cup. The score made public today was:

United States, 24,561; Great Britain, 24,510.

Last year Great Britain took the Dewar cup from the United States by 232 points.

This year's rules called for fifty men on a side using 22-caliber rifle and shooting at 75 feet, the size of the bull's-eye being one-half inch in diameter.

Two men of the American team, members of the Butte, Mont. Rifle Shooting club, made the possible score of 500.

CRIMSON CREWS SWEEP THAMES

Vanquish Their Great Rivals, Yale, in Varsity Four and Eight and Freshmen Eight. Great Crowd Lined Course.

New London, June 20.—For the sixth consecutive time Harvard's varsity eight-oared crew triumphed over the Yale oarsmen in the long four-mile race that closed the annual inter-university regatta here this afternoon. Preceded by the two crimson victories of the forenoon and the two wins on Thursday, it completed a Harvard sweep that has been equalled only once or twice in the long history of Yale-Harvard rowing. Tonight bands of cambridge students are parading of Cambridge students new brooms emblematic of the crimson sweep of the Thames river.

The final defeat administered to Yale was so crushing that the English stroke and rowing methods imported from Oxford are being ridiculed.

Sweeping down the river with a steady and consistent stroke, Harvard crossed the finish line eleven lengths ahead of the blue in 21 minutes and 42 seconds. The Eli eight, rolled and splashed across in Harvard's wake just 28 seconds later.

Except during the first mile the race was merely a procession, with the Crimson steadily increasing the lead. It was not that the Yale oarsmen broke or failed to get speed out of their English stroke, but Harvard surpassed them in every department of rowing.

Pelkey Trial.

Calgary, Alberta, June 20.—Testimony of persons active in promotion of the prize fight which resulted in the death of Luther McCarty in the Burns arena here May 24 was continued when the hearing of Arthur Pelkey, who is charged with manslaughter, was resumed today. Six witnesses remained to testify for the crown while several medical experts were ready to appear in behalf of the defense in an effort to show that McCarty was not killed by a blow to the jaw, as contended by the prosecution.

Dr. Merritt, a surgeon who assisted Dr. H. H. Mosher at the autopsy, was the principal witness today. He testified that the clot of blood found on the brain was only a few hours hold; that it had caused almost instantaneous death and that the only mark on the body which could have caused the clot was the contusion on the right side of the jaw.

AMERICAN TENNIS STARS IN QUEENSTOWN

Queenstown, June 20.—The Dwight F. Davis American tennis team arrived here today in prime condition. The team includes Maurice E. McLaughlin, of San Francisco; R. Norris Williams, of Philadelphia, and Harold Hackett, of New York.

The Americans practiced on the promenade deck of the vessel throughout the voyage, the members of the Australasian team, Captain Stanley R. Rous, Horace M. Rice and A. Booth Jones, whom they defeated in New York, being their opponents.

FAVORS ABOLITION OF R. R. COMMISSION

In an interview given out yesterday Col. William L. Peel, president of the American National bank, declared that he regarded railroad commissions, both state and interstate, as a menace to the business progress of the country. Colonel Peel added that he believed that the people and the railroads would both be better off if railroad commissions were abolished.

"There is too much legislation, too many laws, too much interference with railroads," said Colonel Peel. "Under the existing conditions, railroads hesitate to make improvements and business suffers."

Colonel Peel expressed himself as hopeful that the present legislature would be conservative and not pass any radical measures calculated to disturb business progress.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION BRINGS DAMAGE SUIT

Resulting from a dynamite explosion said to have occurred on July 29, 1912, on the banks of the Ash river in Fannin county, George M. Ash yesterday brought suit in the city court for $15,000 against the Windsor Lumber company.

Ash claims that he was in the employ of the company as a laborer and acting under orders from his superiors, was engaged in packing a load of the explosive in a hole drilled in a rock which was to be blasted, when the load went off and drove the "tamping stick" into his right cheek, and mashed and bruised his face and arm and side.

That the dynamite was old and therefore dangerous, as the nitroglycerin part of it had become segregated from the silica, and that he was unaware of this is the basis of the claim against the company, according to the petition. Ash claims that he was ordered to use this particular dynamite which, he says, was furnished by an agent of the company.

In his petition Ash is represented by four attorneys, William Butt, N. A. Morris, George D. Anderson and F. L. Neufville.

GRAND JURY SUGGESTS WAR AGAINST VAGRANTS

Foreman Beck Tells Why Chief Beavers Was Called Before Body Friday Morning.

"We only called up Chief Beavers before us yesterday morning to urge that the police force get after the loiterers and vagrants around Atlanta during these hot days, when a certain class of men and boys desire to be idle," said Foreman L. H. Beck, of the Fulton grand jury, when asked last night about the appearance before the body of the police chief.

"The grand jury," he continued, "has noticed an increase in crime during the hot months and also that numbers of Atlanta men and youths are idling around the street corners and loitering in poolrooms and near beer places, and we desired to request that the law against vagrancy be rigidly enforced."

Chief's Order Approved.

"The chief's action in regard to instructing his men to watch closely to see if young girls were sold liquor and allowed to drink in the locker clubs of the city was of the chief's own initiative," the foreman explained. "Personally I think it a splendid thing and believe that it will do much for the morals of the city. I am glad to see this action taken."

The grand jury will meet again Tuesday morning, it according to its foreman, will be busied with routine criminal business. Mr. Beck declared that there are a number of bills to be acted upon and that there was little probability of further action on the vice probe. He appeared to indicate that the body was ready to make its suggestions when it is discharged by a superior court judge.

Asked about the possibilities of a probe into the dictagraph scandal, the foreman replied by asking if it was a crime to use a dictagraph. Later he stated that at present he did not appear to need investigating that the grand jury would take it up, but that at present it has not been decided upon.

Bench Warrant.

Following the jury's suggestion, Chief Beavers has begun a city-wide clean-up of loafers and vagrants of both colors. Four more arrests were made Friday of loitering blacks and whites, and many more are expected today.

To each of the three watches he delivered the following instructions:

"Beginning Friday morning, I want every loafer and bum in Atlanta arrested and brought to headquarters. Every man must keep a close watch and pick up all suspects. Clean out the poolrooms and saloons and other places of rendezvous. If suspects claim they work, take their names and addresses and places of employment and investigate."

The detective department was given similar orders. Firm in the belief that much of the crime that has spread over the city in a tumultuous wave is being bred in places where loiterers congregate, he intends to go at the root of the trouble by stamping out what he believes to be the source.

SOUTHERN SWITCHMAN ASKS $40,000 DAMAGES FOR LOSS OF ONE FOOT

A. L. Kirbo, claiming to have been employed on February 25 as switchman for the Southern Railway company, brought suit against the city court yesterday against the railroad for $40,000 damages for the loss of one foot, which he asserts was caused while he was on duty, and which he declares resulted from the negligence of his employers.

The man was switching freight cars at night in the north Inman yards, according to his suit, and was standing between two tracks in a part of the yard where the light was insufficient. He says that the tracks were not far enough apart for him to be in that position to signal the switch engineer and not get caught between cars on either track.

He asserts that he was caught between stationary cars on one track and the moving cars on another, and was knocked down and his left foot so crushed that it had to be amputated above the ankle.

Kirbo states that he is 21 years of age, and that his earning capacity is now diminished four-fifths. He is represented by Attorneys Atkinson and Horn.

BEN PERSONS CHOSEN ON PHARMACY BOARD

Ben S. Persons, a well-known Macon druggist, was yesterday appointed a member of the state board of pharmacy to take the place of Herman C. Shuptrine, of Savannah, who resigned on his election as a member of the legislature. Mr. Shuptrine was chairman of the board.

In making the appointment, Governor Brown is restricted by law to one of five druggists named by the State Pharmaceutical association. Besides Mr. Persons, there were W. L. Meadows, of Columbus; Joseph F. Walker, of Montezuma; S. R. Hunt, of Cordele, and C. E. Brunner, of Macon. As the term of R. H. Land, of Augusta, another member of the board, will expire in November, another of these men will get a place on that body soon.

MONTGOMERY ACQUITTED ON WHITE SLAVE CHARGE

Valdosta, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—George E. Montgomery, charged with violating the Mann white slavery law, was given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner O. W. Franklin here today and acquitted.

It was the first case brought in this city under the Mann act. Montgomery, a New Yorker over 50 years old, who spent several weeks here recently, was charged with bringing a young woman known as Lula Carrington, to whom it was alleged he had not been married, to this city from Palatka, Fla., and living with her as his wife. They were said to be one of the leading hotels and were received in the best society.

The prosecution was instituted by Mrs. Linnie Clark, whose husband was a former business partner of Montgomery and who alleged that the defendant had abused her friendship and hospitality in foisting upon her a woman who was not his wife. The couple claimed to have been married and the government was unable to disprove the claim.

The defendant and his friends charge that the prosecution was an effort to even up business differences between them.

TECH VASTLY O[illegible]DOWN ITS MAINTENANCE FUND

Chairman Harris, of Trustees, Calls Attention to School's Needs in Report.

That last year was a record year for the Georgia School of Technology is conclusively shown in the report of Chairman N. E. Harris, of the board of trustees, which reached Governor Brown yesterday. The needs of the institution, made most urgent by its rapid growth in recent years, are set forth at length.

The most important of these are more land for campus purposes and the appropriation of $30,000 by the legislature for a power station in order to render available a gift of $100,000 which has been offered thus conditionally by New York and other northern friends of the school. It is pointed out that an option has been obtained on 4 acres of land adjoining the present grounds of the institution, which are greatly needed to enlarge the campus.

Students' Health Better.

The report of President K. G. Matheson, which is included in Chairman Harris' report, recites that the general health of the students this year has been much better than in preceding years, owing to the provision of the new infirmary. Any epidemic of typhoid or other disease which might break out among the students can be readily controlled.

Dr. Matheson further reports that all of the graduates of the class of 1912, sixty-eight in number, have, with one or two exceptions of those who did have to look for employment, secured good positions. Quite a number of them have lucrative jobs and are rapidly rising in the fields they have chosen.

The report shows that the school received from all sources during the past year $131,326.41; expenditures for the same period were $128,321.48. The report, however, does not include the June expenditures, which were expected to about eat up the balance named.

Salary Increases Unpaid.

Dr. Matheson urges that the maintenance fund of the school must be increased if the present standard of efficiency is even to be maintained, to say nothing of the increasing demands made by the growing number of boys who are seeking the advantages offered by the school. He points out that the salary increases to members of the faculty, which were authorized by the legislature last year, could not be paid because of lack of sufficient funds.

BAR GIRLS AND BOYS FROM LOCKER CLUBS

Chief Beavers Issues Order to Police Officers to Keep Strict Watch.

Strongly censoring locker clubs of the city for admitting young boys and girls, and for permitting women to drink to intoxication, Chief Beavers has issued an order urging the entire police department to keep sharp watch on all clubs suspected of allowing such conditions.

He appeared before all three watches of the patrolmen and sent a copy of his order to the detective department. The instructions were embodied in Special Order No. 35, and have been filed in official records of the department.

The order reads:

"The officers and men of the force are instructed to keep a close watch on locker clubs in the city where they have reason to suspect that boys and girls are allowed to congregate and drink intoxicants, or where they are being furnished whisky or other intoxicants illegally; and to make cases where sufficient evidence can be obtained."

The chief stated to reporters that he had issued the order because of numerous complaints that had come to his office. He declared, however, that the order had no connection whatever with his appearance before the grand jury Friday morning.

Dawson, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—Dr. J. G. Dean has bought of Mrs. W. L. Alexander seventy-five acres of land lying just outside the northeastern corporate limits of Dawson, paying therefor the snug sum of $8,000. DR. SEXTON IS HERE FOR CAPITAL CHURCH

$300,000 Already Raised to Erect Fine M. E. Building in Washington.

Campaign by the Methodist Episcopal church, south, for the erection of a $500,000 edifice in Washington, D. C., has resulted in a subscription list of over $300,000 to date, and every effort will be made to raise the balance in the near future, according to Dr. George R. Sexton, of Dallas, Tex., who is in Atlanta to further the interests of the enterprise.

The church will be located in the northwest part of the capital, near the hotel district and close to the white house. It is planned to invest about $100,000 for the purchase of a site, according to the representative church commission which is directing the arrangements for the new church. The members of this body are: Bishop W. A. Candler, chairman; Bishop E. E. Hoss, Bishop John C. Kilgo, Dr. W. F. McMurry and Dr. George R. Sexton, secretaries.

Tomorrow many prominent ministers will occupy the pulpits of Atlanta's Methodist churches, and the dominant theme in all the sermons will be, "The South in the Building of the Nation," and they will also stress the cause of the new representative church in Washington.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS PLAN BIG INITIATION

Largest Class on Record Will Take Three Degrees on Next Sunday.

The Knights of Columbus of Atlanta will initiate into the first, second and third degrees the largest class on record in Georgia on Sunday, June 29.

Special preparations are being made for this event, which will be held at 2 o'clock a. m. at the clubhouse at 18 East Pine street.

The first and second degrees will be conferred by Dr. J. H. Hines, grand knight of Atlanta, and the third degree rites will be in charge of M. C. Carroll, district deputy.

After the ceremonies a magnificent banquet will be given at the Piedmont hotel.

Owing to the fact that a special dispensation was given the Atlanta lodge of Knights of Columbus to administer the three degrees at one time, a number of high officials of the organization will come down from New York, Boston, New Haven and other northern and eastern places to witness the ceremonies.

A number of social affairs are being planned to entertain these gentlemen, and the Knights of Columbus will no doubt make it a red letter day for Atlanta.

Those Popular Excursions to Warm Springs via A., B. & A., commence Sunday, May 25. Only $1 round trip. Train leaves Union Station at 8 a. m.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL NEWS OF DAY

COTTON WAS FIRMER; CLOSED AT ADVANCE

After Early Decline the Market Rallied on Bull Support.

New York, June 20.—The cotton market showed renewed firmness today, with prices advancing to nearly the best level of the week, on active covering and bull support. The close was off from the best, under realising, but steady and from 5 to 16 points net higher.

The market opene dsteady at an advance of 2 to 3 points, in sympathy with steady Liverpool cables, but foreign houses were again sellers here, while the trade took a generally favorable view of weather conditions in the south, and there was also scattering liquidation or local bear pressure.

After selling off to a net loss of 2 or 3 points, however, teh market rallied on a renewal of bull support and covering, duly showed a tendency to lead the advance, as shorts in that position seemed to be nervous over the continued reduction in the local stock and the strength of the near month in New Orleans, while reports that the boll weevil were showing up numerously in Arkansas helped the upward movement in the new crop positions.

Realizing caused a moderate reaction after the opening advance, the net gain of about 12 to 15 points, and the detailed weather reports were published, showing lower temperatures in the eastern belt, but spinners' takings for the week, as reported by the New York cotton exchange, were heavy enough to suggest a further strengthening of the old crop situation and prices rallied again, selling about 17 to 20 points net higher during the late trading. This advance carried July contracts up to 12.24, or within one point of the high level reached earlier in the month, when there had been some selling supposed to be against cotton to be shipped here for consignment delivery.

There was a little selling, said to be for the account about 11:20 this afternoon, and the close from the best in the late trading, under realising. Wall street and uptown interests were credited with buying actively on the advance, and part of the demand was supposed to come from old shorts.

Cotton spot closed steady; middling uplands, 12.50; do. gulf, 12.75; sales, 100 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, June 20.—The price of cotton went higher today on determined bull support, following such bull weevil talk as was interesting the July position. One story was that interior cotton merchants were in the local market for the purpose of taking up cotton on July and shipping it out. This trade shorts assume as being equal to the

Only five lots were sold at the auction sale held Thursday afternoon by R. E. Davidson for the Edwin P. Ansley agency, in the Ansley Park annex at North Boulevard and Ansley avenue. While a good crowd attended the sale, there were not enough present to make it worth while to go on with the sale. The remaining twenty lots will be sold by private sale.

Two more medium sized sales were made by the same agency Friday, one being the southwest corner of Piedmont avenue and Twelfth street, facing Piedmont park, sold for J. A. Fritz to Mrs. Lucie C. Christian for the consideration of $6,000, or $60 per front foot.

CAUCUS IS HELD ON REVISION BILL

Many Important Items Added to List of "Market Basket" Reductions by Senate Finance Committee.

Washington, June 20.—Important reductions in the Underwood tariff bill rates on iron, steel and other metal products; the addition of cattle, wheat, pig iron, Angora wool and many other articles to the free list; and an increase in rates on many classes of cotton goods and some silk products, were the chief features of the revised tariff bill as it was laid before senate democrats today by Chairman Simmons, of the finance committee.

After weeks of work, in which every item had undergone close scrutiny by subcommittees of the majority membership of the finance committee, the redrafted measure was brought into the democratic caucus today. For two hours the important changes were explained to democrats and the bill was then made public. Experts of the committee at once began work on a comprehensive summary of the changes.

President Wilson's desires as to free sugar in 1916 and free wool at once prevailed in the redraft of the bill. To the list of "market basket" reductions the Underwood bill contained the senate committee added many important items, in the general level of its rates the "Simmons bill" represents a heavier cut from existing rates of the Payne-Aldrich law than did the bill as it passed the house.

The senate caucus adjourned early and members spent the afternoon working out private analysis of the measure. The caucus will reconvene tomorrow. Senate leaders believe the bill will reach the senate itself late next week.

But Little Revision.

Members of the finance committee expressed the belief tonight that there would not be much revision in the caucus. The chief interest, of course, centers on wool and sugar, but administration leaders believe that there will be no change in them, and that all but two or perhaps three senators will take the pledge binding themselves to support the bill. Senator Simmons, chairman of the committee, believes that the caucus will continue its work not longer than a week, and that after the bill has then been submitted to the full membership of the finance committee it will be reported to the senate.

Walking Along Street, Man Is Severely Burned By Explosion of Powder

Athens, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—Allen Fleming, employed by the Athens Herald, is suffering from a most unusual accident which happened to him yesterday evening. Passing a corner of a vacant lot, there was a sudden, blinding flash and explosion on the ground at his side and within a few feet from him. He threw out a hand and saved his face and eyes, but the arm was burned to a blister from the hand nearly to the shoulder.

It was learned that two hours before, school boys had placed a large charge of powder in a paper sack and had set fire to the paper to see the charge flash. The fire went out and the boys left the sack. The flash occurred two hours afterward, just as Fleming passed by, and there has been no possible explanation of the cause of its ignition.

More than a score of members of the Royal Arch chapter signed the petition for charter and by unanimous vote the council was named in honor of Robert Young, one of Eatonton's worthiest citizens and one of the oldest members of the Masonic order in Eatonton.

sees. The cost is estimated at $43,000.

Another change has happened on "real estate row" (Auburn avenue). F. Mc. Brown has succeeded Mercer Gilmer in the real estate business and with additional equipment intends to do a more extensive business in the offices next to George P. Moore's agency.

The Bottenfield agency has done such a growing business that they have been forced to add more men to their force. For this reason seven new men are now on their executive sales force. These are: O. O. Boyle, A. J. Bell, John Abercrombie, Joseph E. Hays and J. Y. Christain.

The Bottenfield agency sold for T. P. Anderson for a client Peachtree house and lot at 57 St. Charles avenue for the consideration of $6,000. The lot is 50x200 feet.

Improvements Planned.

Important improvements will be made in the near future on the triangle formed by the convergence of the two Peachtrees at Baker street.

Architect A. F. N. Everett is at present drawing plans for Col. Willis E. Ragan, the owner, and will submit them to him in a few days.

A number of stores are being planned for the plat of ground, which is one of the most valuable pieces of property of the city, and in addition to these being built, extensive alterations will be made on the old Piedmont hotel. When completely remodeled, this will probably be leased. The cost of these improvements has not yet been announced.

It is said that the improvements planned are only for a short while, as Colonel Ragan has had numerous offers for the property and only wishes to make it pay for itself for several years.

Various suggestions have been made as to what the property could be used for permanently. Fronting on both Peachtrees for a considerable distance, it would make an ideal site for a modern hotel, or a big department store caterin respecially to that sectio nof the city.

AT THE THEATERS.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Matinee and night performances today will conclude the engagement of the seven Keith features that have made up the bill at the busy theatre during the heated week.

For the week starting with matinee on Monday, there are features to be introduced that will probably assist in establishing a record that most any vaudeville theater could be proud of in mid-summer.

Gertrude Vanderbilt, the comedienne, and George Moore, the dancing comedian, will headline the selection of Keith acts that will make up the program. As actors that will have great interest just now will be ideal, the fancy diver and expert swimmer.

"Quo Vadis."

(At the Grand.)

The tremendous success of George Klein's modern photoply, "Quo Vadis," that has been presented all week at the Grand, finishing its first week with matinee and night performances today, will be continued for another week at the Grand, commencing with matinee on Monday afternoon.

This has been made possible because of the fact that the picture is booked in the Keith circuit in the south, and because the tremendous success of "Quo Vadis" ever since last Monday, induced Mr. Wells to set back the engagement of the play in another city, so that Atlanta theatergoers might enjoy the additional performances.

The advance sale for next week is on now, and seats for every performance may be secured in advance.

Musical Comedy Tabloid.

(At the Bijou.)

With the passing of "The Duke of Durham" after tonight's performances at the Bijou amusement Atlanta is looking forward with pleasure to the coming engagement of "The Merry Whirl," which is scheduled to amuse theatergoers next week, beginning with the usual matinee Monday afternoon. This new musical attraction has made the round of the circuit, carrying with it the highest praise for the clean, wholesome fun it contains, the pretty musical numbers that abound in the score and the clever company of funmakers, vaudeville artists and pretty chorus that make up the company of twenty-five.

GEORGIAN DESCRIBES HIS FALL FROM SKY

and tearing loose the lashings of one of the planes, bound himself fast to a pontoon. Within a few minutes, however, he was taken off by R. L. Bronson and S. Kellett, who had watched the aeroplane's movements from a motorboat kept on the bay for use in just such accidents.

Tells Story of Fall.

At the Naval academy hospital Lieutenant Towers, a slender man of nervous collapse, his head wagging piteously, told the tragic story of his fall from the sky.

"Just before the accident," he said, "I looked at the altitude dial and it showed that we were running at a height of about 1,500 feet. Just then a gust of wind seemed to come up from below. It struck the aeroplane underneath the rear planes and the machine landed too violently and with an uncertain dive forward. This threw Billingsley across the steering gear and the lateral rudder planes went out of business.

"With another forward plunge the biplane dropped down at express train speed. It all happened in a minute. Billingsley went out of his seat and clear of the plane.

"When the ship started to fall I had one hand around the upright, between the planes, and I locked it there. I knew that was my only hope, I was not to be shaken off, but held on to the upright. I swung clear of the planes and the gearing. The strain on my arms and fingers was awful, but I clenched my teeth and held on. I tried to kick the steering gear back into working order, but I could not make it go. I looked down and saw Billingsley turning over and over in the air.

"The trembling officer halted his story to wipe the sweat from his ashy face, but went on immediately:

"When the aeroplane had dropped about 900 feet the front planes went down and under, until the ship had been turned completely over. When it was built way over it steadied for a minute and the force of the fall was broken a little, but it gathered momentum again and when it hit the water it was going with a force that I kept clear of the engine and the planes and managed to come to the surface safely."

At the hospital tonight Lieutenant Towers was listed as "slightly injured internally," but the surgeons were in doubt as to the exact extent of his injuries. He suffered terribly from shock.

Captain John H. Gibbons, in charge of the Naval academy, tonight appointed a naval board of inquiry to investigate the accident.

HIT BY AUTOMOBILE; IS STILL UNCONSCIOUS

Thomas Jefferson, an old Indian teacher, who was knocked unconscious by an automobile on Thursday night as he was crossing Whitehall at the intersection with Alabama street, has never regained consciousness, though he has been under the constant care of physicians at the Grady hospital, who have done their best to revive him. His injuries are expected to prove fatal.

Two weeks ago he came to Atlanta suffering from epilepsy, and at that time he prophecied that he did not have long to live. He was then in a melancholy mood, and his neighbors at the Salvation Army Industrial home, 158 Whitehall strtet, where he lived, saw but little of him. However, they did see testimonials of his long service as an Indian teacher, and they report that he has no surviving relatives.
